PREFACE

For many years I have had a strong desire to know more about the Cantrill family, but not until 1897 was sufficient data obtained to furnish a reliable basis for this work. It is published now with a full knowledge of the many imperfections that will be manifest to many who read it. Many difficulties have attended the collection and compilation of the material and at times the work has been most discouraging.

If some branches of the family have been treated briefly, it is only owing to the lack of information and meager data furnished by the descendants.

It is with a deep realization of how impossible it is to make any History, or Genealogy, of a family entirely perfect, that I now publish the result of more than ten years' research. It is probable that it could be made more complete by waiting and working longer, but many of those who have been interested in the collection of the material have already passed away, others are growing old, and the writer is anxious to put into permanent shape the information collected, which has never been printed regarding the Cantrill family before. The Cantrill family is one of the oldest families in America.

In the course of this work innumerable histories, genealogies and records have been carefully searched in the Astor and Lenox Libraries, New York Historical Society, New York Genealogical Society and Court Records, New York; Brooklyn and Pratt Libraries, Brooklyn; Boston Library, Historical Society and Court Records, Boston; Friends' Library, Pennsylvania Historical Society, Records of old Philadelphia churches and Court Records, Philadelphia; Pennsylvania State Library, Harrisburg; Court Records, Westchester, Pa.; Illinois State Library, Springfield; Congressional Library and Census Department, Washington; and Court Records in New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. A thorough search has also been made in London, England, of Court Records and emigrant lists of the seventeenth century by a reliable English genealogist. I am also indebted to Rev. Edgar Harlan Kellar and Mrs. Francis Hardin Hoss for searching records at the British Museum, London.

In finishing this self-imposed task, which has also given me many hours of pleasure and profit, I wish particularly to express my appreciation of the encouragement and material help that has been given me by Mrs. William A. Cantrell, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. James E. Cantrill, Georgetown, Ky.; Miss Mary Cantrell, McMinnville, Tenn.; Mrs. Laura Cantrell Kinser, Tellico Junction, Tenn.; Mr. John H. Cantrell, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. W. W. Whiteside, Oxford, Ala., and to many others.

Finally, in presenting these facts regarding the history and genealogy of the Cantrill family which I have been able to collect, I do so in the hope that they will be an inspiration to every member of the family to continued patriotism to our country, and pride in our family.

SUSAN CANTRILL CHRISTIE.

HISTORY

Origin and Spelling of the Name

The name of Cantrill wherever found can be traced to the original family of Chantrell, or Cantrelle, in France.

In "Armorial Generale," by J. B. Rietstap, the name is given as Chantrell, Cantrelle and Canteral; in "La Grande Encyclopedia," as Chantrell and Canteral; in "La France Heraldique," as Chantrell (de) and Chantre (le), while in "Noblisse Universale," by M. L. Vicomte Magny, it is given as Cantrel.

In "British Family Names," by Henry Barber, the following appears: "Cantrell (French), Cantrel, Chantrell. The first of the name in England was William Chantrell, time King John, A. D. 1199."

Mark Antony Lower gives the definition thus: "Cantrill, Cantrell, from Cantrellus, the little singer."

Charles Waring Bardsley, in his "Dictionary of Surnames," says: "Cantrell, Cantrill, one who rang the Chantrelle. Chantrelle, a small bell. Chanter, to sing."

The name is spelled in various ways, viz: Cantrill, Cantrell, Cantrall, Cantrelle, Cantril, Cantrel, Cantral, Chantrell and Chauntrell. The spelling has always been one of personal taste, even brothers have spelled it differently.

In this book the name is spelled as found in Capt. John Smith's Works, or as it is spelled by the different branches of the family.

The earliest records of the family are French. The first mention of the name outside of France is William Chantrell, who retained the French spelling of the name, in England in time of King John.

The Family in England

From the twelfth to the fifteenth century the name appears in English records from time to time, and after that time appears many times in England and Ireland, as well as in France, usually spelled Chantrell, Cantrill or Cantrell.

William Chantrell, temp King John, was probably the first of the name in England.

In the "History of Melbourne, County Derby," second edition, (no date), page 175, by J. J. Briggs, the author says:

"The Cantrells were a very ancient family and are supposed to have been located at Kings Newton about five hundred years. By deeds still extant in the family, we find that they possessed lands there as early as the reign of Henry V, about 1413. Other deeds and surveys also show that they were considerable landed proprietors during the reigns of Henry V, Henry VI, Edward V, Edward VI and Henry VII."

From the "History of Cheshire," by Ormeod, we learn that the Chantrells were possessed of lands in Cheshire as early as 1412, and in this History the pedigree is given of John Cantrell, 1424 (taken from the "Plea Recog Rolls"), with the same coat-of-arms that is given later in the "Visitation of Cheshire," 1580, of Chantrell of Bache; "Visitation of Suffolk," 1612, of Cantrell of Bury St. Edmunds and "Visitation of Berkshire," 1664, of Cantrill of Wokingham.

Various histories of Cheshire have a great many records, covering a period from 1422–1558, showing that the family of Chantrell was a prominent one and that they were large landed proprietors, and speaking of the family as a very ancient one.

The name is enrolled in English records as patriots, soldiers, sailors, college graduates, schoolmasters, barristers, writers, rectors and vicars of the Church of England.

Hugo Chantrell was an archer in the retinue of Lord Grey of Codner at the Battle of Agincourt, 1415.

John Chantrell received special favors from the Prince of Wales in 1460 for good service at the Battle of Bloreheth.

Ralph Cantrill was Vicar of Chesterfield in Derbyshire in 1461.

William Cantrell, a Master in His Majesty's Navy, particularly distinguished himself at Trencomale in the East Indies, December 16, 1747, on an occasion where few would perhaps have shown the same contempt of danger. In bringing powder from the magazine one of the boats blew up and a large firebrand fell blazing into another boat, in which were forty-five barrels of powder, covered only by a sail; it stove one of the barrels and must inevitably have sent all the people employed into the air, had not Mr. Cantrell taken the burning brand from the powder, thrown it overboard, quenched the remains of the fire on the sail and restored all to safety.

There are many interesting records in Derbyshire of the Cantrell, or Cantrill, family (as the name is alternately spelled), which was closely identified with St. Alkmund's Church for over a century. St. Alkmund's Church is supposed to have been founded as early as the ninth century, and is undoubtedly the oldest church in Derby. In the Register of this church is an autobiography of John Cantrell, minister and schoolmaster, covering a period from 1627 to 1656. John Cantrell had a son Simon Cantrell, who was the father of Henry Cantrell, a miscellaneous writer and Vicar of St. Alkmund's for fifty years, in whose honor there is a flag within the Commune Rails of the church. There is a tablet on the south wall of the chancel of the same church to William Cantrell, a son of Henry, who was Rector many years of St. Michael's in the borough of Stamford, and in the county of Lincoln, and in the county of Rutland.

There are also many interesting records of the Suffolk branch of the family. Ralph Cantrell, Gentleman, of Thorpe Hall, Hemingstone, county Suffolk, was Scribe to the Bishop (Lord of Norwich, 1519–79), and his pedigree is given in the "Visitation of Suffolk," 1612, and of Berkshire, 1664. Of his sons many records are found, one was William Cantrell, regarding whom we learn, from the "Antiquities of the County Suffolk," Vol. 1 page 118:

"Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, whom Queen Elizabeth beheaded, having in 1556 put his vast estates in trust to William Cantrell and others, the Queen allowed him to continue to act as Trustee until she sent the Earl of Arundel to the Tower, when she appointed William Cantrell to act for herself. (Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, in Bury St. Edmund's, County Suffolk.)"

Another history speaks of him as follows:

"Mr. William Cantrell, of Hemingstone, a gentleman of fortune and consequence in the reigns of King Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth, who distinguished him with marks of royal favor and confidence. In the parish church of Hemingstone, St. Gregory's, there is an ancient mural monument to his memory, and the following epitaph:

"Man here thou mayst entombed see,
A man of honest fame,

Come home to earth, who in this life,
Bare William Cantrell's name.
A gentleman in birth, in life,
In office and degree,
Now wrapped in clay; then think O man
What will become of thee.
This William Cantrell feoffee was
With others put in trust,
Regarded well for virtuous life,
Wise, sober, true and just,
Even of the whole revenue of
That mighty prince of late,
Late Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, hight,
Some time of high estate."

Thomas Cantrell, brother of William, was the father of Ralph Cantrell, of Hemingstone, who was knighted March 11, 1623.

The Coat-of-Arms

There is a great diversity of opinion among authorities as to the time that coat-of-arms became hereditary. The majority give the twelfth century, though a few give a still earlier date.

In 1482, Richard III incorporated the Heralds' College, or College of Arms. On the establishment of the Heralds' College periodical visitations of the different counties were directed to take cognizance of the Arms, Pedigrees and Marriages of the Nobility and Gentry of England. In the Heralds' Visitations of the counties of Cheshire, Suffolk, Norfolk, Berkshire and Derbyshire, pedigrees are given of Chantrells, Cantrells and Cantrills as belonging to the gentry, and all bearing the same coat armor.

The ancient Cantrell coat-of-arms was:

Argent, A Pelican in her piety, Sable.
Crest A Tower, Argent.

The Pelican was one of the first emblems used in Heraldry; its simplicity would indicate that it is very ancient. One of the earliest works published on Heraldry says:

"The Pelican was by Egyptians made the hieroglyphic of maternal affection, for she, when her young ones had been bitten by serpents, that secretly invade their nest, launces her bosom and with the purple balsom that streams from the opened sluice not only expells the infused venom, but likewise cements and cures the wounds inflicted by the noxious adversaries."

Another old history gives the following:

"Pelican. The Egyptian priests used the Pelican for a hieroglyphic to express the four duties of a father toward his children, whereof the first is Generation; second is his office of Education; third of Training up, or Instruction of Learning; and the fourth and last, the Duty of Informing his children with the Example of his Virtuous and Honest Life."

"Webster's International Dictionary" says:

"Pelican in her Piety (in heraldry and symbolical art), a representation of a Pelican in the act of prodding her breast, in order to nourish her young with her blood, a practice fabulously attributed to the bird, on account of which it was adopted as a symbol of the Redeemer and of charity."

The Family in Ireland

There seems to be a well-founded tradition in the Irish branch of the family that the first Cantrells in Ireland were French Huguenots, who fled from France at the time of the St. Bartholomew Massacre (1572).

Probably the first of the name to go from England into Ireland was Godfrey Cantrell, who moved from Leicester with his family in 1655 to Queens county. His name appears from 1661 to 1669 among the names of persecuted Quakers in that county, and in the latter year the name of John Cantrell also appears in the same lists. That this family were Quakers is also confirmed by the purchase in 1677 from the New Jersey Quakers of a small parcel of land by Godfrey Canterell, who sold it in 1682, apparently without ever having set foot on American soil, as the transactions are given as having taken place at Rosenalis, Queens county, Ireland, and there is no record of his ever having lived in America.

In America

The name first appears in America in 1608 at Jamestown, Va., and since that time there have been eight, possibly more, distinct families of Cantrill, Cantrell and Cantrelle, who have come to this country from England, Ireland and France.

The first permanent settlement of English-speaking people on the American continent was made at Jamestown, Va., in April, 1607. The histories of all the older nations begin with a fable, or some mythological story, which shrouds their real birth in mystery, but the American Republic can trace its genesis to a definite place.

Captain John Smith was the leading man in this first settlement, and history records many daring adventures of this man, who was by nature so well fitted to be a leader of the band of courageous young men, who went from England to this new and unconquered world. Here in the wilderness of an unexplored continent, already inhabited by another and a savage race, great deeds were performed and events transpired that were more thrilling and impressive than any ever told in poetry or prose. Every hardship common to human life was met by the men who founded this first Colony and many lives were lost in the struggle; but before the settlements at either Plymouth, or New Amsterdam, were effected they had planted the seed from which has sprung not only the nation, but its form of government. Before 1620, when the second permanent settlement was made at Plymouth, the Virginia Colony had established a number of villages and trading posts; had built homes and churches; established courts and tried the accused by jury. They had cultivated the land and started a commercial career which was not confined to the Colony, as they were already exporting their produce to England.

Above all, they had convened a legislative assembly, whose members were elected by popular suffrage and who passed laws governing the Colony. This was the beginning of free government in America. The government of the United States by a President, Senate and House of Representatives shows that the ideas put into the Great Charter of the Virginia Company have left their mark on the Constitution of our country and the laws of all our States show traces of the same ideas.

The spirit of adventure and love of travel shown by the first of the name to come to America has been shown by many others of the name since 1608. From 1608 to 1639 the name appears in Virginia records and after that date is found in other and newer settlements during that century.

There is a tradition in the family that the Cantrills went up the Delaware from the east shore of Virginia, but it has not been possible to verify this from the incomplete and fragmentary records. About four thousand Virginians were among the first settlers of Maryland and others were scattered along the Delaware into Pennsylvania before William Penn arrived there.

There is documentary proof that the family were in Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Massachusetts before 1700; but, unfortunately, the relation, if any, that existed between them has not been established in the same way. Nor has it been possible to find the exact years in which they moved from settlement to settlement during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Before the Revolution, however, branches of the family had left Pennsylvania and settled in western Virginia and the Carolinas. It is probable that those who went to the Carolinas migrated with the little bands of Baptists, as they had become identified with the Mother Baptist church, the Old Welsh Tract of New Castle county, Pennsylvania, and this church sent many branches out into Virginia and the Carolinas about this time. In western Virginia at this time there were but two churches, i. e., the Church of England, which was the first established in the Colony, and the Presbyterian, which sprung into prominence when a large emigration of Scotch-Irish settled there about 1750; to the latter church this branch of the family went, and it is a significant fact that to this day descendants of the family in the Carolinas are almost all identified with the Baptist church, while those of the branch who settled in western Virginia became prominently connected with the Presbyterian. In England the family were almost all members of the Church of England, and as noted previously were rectors and vicars in that church. In America they became members of various religious organizations, being in many instances organizers and founders of churches in different localities of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian and Episcopal denominations, and have furnished many church officers and ministers to them. To-day members of the family are found in almost every religious denomination.

It is hard to realize the dangers and difficulties that beset our ancestors in their migrations from settlement to settlement during their early history, and the early history of this country, as there is nothing in the ease and luxury of modern travel to suggest even remotely the discomforts they had to endure. Before steamboats, or railroads, were known several generations of the name had found their way by waterways, or along buffalo, or Indian trails from tide water in Virginia to Pennsylvania; back to the mountains of western Virginia and to the plantations of the Carolinas; west over the mountains into eastern Tennessee and the Blue Grass region of Kentucky and from there to the rolling land of Ohio and Indiana and the wide prairies of Illinois and Iowa.

What courage and daring did both men and women possess to venture forth into the unknown land. They knew the country was full of wild animals and savage red men; that the very paths they so often followed were made by them and that all sorts of danger would be encountered. We read of boats, crude and primitive, by which they traversed the waterways; of caravans, sometimes small, sometimes, however, containing as many as fifty Conestoga wagons, in which the older men, women and small children rode, and the household goods were carried, while the younger members of the families travelled on horseback. In some of these migrations the trails were so rough that pack horses alone could carry the people to their new homes in the wilderness. Every man carried a gun, or rifle, and in those days women also well knew how to use firearms, for when the men were off on hunting expeditions, their living largely depended on the game they shot, or were at work in the fields, the women and children were never free from the danger of a sudden raid from the Indians.

Into the history of many states is woven the life history of many thousands of the name of Cantrill and to-day representatives of the family can be found in almost every state and territory. In the South they have been planters, in the West, farmers, and everywhere merchants, teachers, ministers, physicians, lawyers, judges, bankers, city, county and state officials, but to the credit of the name let it be said, we have never found anywhere a single criminal.

The Cantrills have always been patriots, as well as pioneers. In every great crisis from Colonial times down: in the Indian Wars; the War for American Independence; the War of 1812; the Mexican War; the Black Hawk War; the Civil War and the Spanish War the muster rolls have been full of the name ever fighting for what they deemed right. A long Roll of Honor they make of soldiers and officers in our history.

The most prominent characteristics in the family are honesty and courage. As a rule they are unassuming, conservative and quiet in their manner. Many of the men are described as tall, being over six feet in height, with Grecian nose, blue-grey eyes and light brown hair, and many are said to be strikingly handsome, or fine looking men.

Cantrills in America in the Seventeenth Century

WILLIAM CANTRILL, Gentleman, arrived at Jamestown, Va., April 20, 1608, by the ship Phenix. (The name is spelled both Cantrill and Cantrell in all the early Virginia histories.)

Captain John Smith's "Historie of the Settlement of Virginia," tells us that the ship Phenix, commanded by Capt. Francis Nelson, left England in the fall of 1607; that Captain Nelson was "an honest and expert Mariner, but such was the leewardness of his Ship that he had to put in at the West Indies for repairs, wood and water," and did not reach Jamestown until the following Spring. A full list of the passengers of the Phenix is given in this book.

The vessels used in those days bore no resemblance to the palatial ocean steamers of to-day; they were small, clumsy and slow and there is little wonder that the people who embarked on them were afraid to venture straight across the great unknown sea. The route, via the Canary Islands and the West Indies, which they then took, made the distance almost twice as long and with good luck the passage was made in four months. With a series of mishaps, the Phenix took six months for the trip from England with the first supplies and people sent to Capt. John Smith, to aid him in the exploration and settlement of Virginia.

References are made to the "writings of William Cantrill," and early histories tell us that he was one of the fourteen, who on June 2, 1608, accompanied Capt. John Smith on his "discoverie of Chesapeake Bay." "Cantrill's Point" was named for the discoverer and was "betwixt the Patawomuk and Pamuke," now the Potomac and Rappahannock rivers.

Henning's "Statutes, or the Laws of Virginia" records the subscription of William Cantrill to the Second Virginia Charter (the Great Charter), dated May 23, 1609.

From "Genesis of the United States," by Alexander Brown:

"William Cantrel (Gentleman), 2, Sub. Pd. £12.–10/ Explanation the figures 1, 2, 3, immediately after the name indicate that the person was an Incorporator of the First, Second and Third Virginia Charter. Sub. subscribed, and is followed by the amount and whenever it was paid, Pd. paid."

In "The names of the Adventurers of Virginia alphabetically set down according to a printed Booke, Set out by the Treasurer and Council in the present yeare, 1620," the name of William Cantrill, Gentleman, appears.

In MSS of Court Proceedings in Virginia, which are the records of the London Company of Virginia, from April 28, 1619, to January 27, 1624, we note: "At a Quarter Court held for Virginia in the afternoon of July 3, 1622, among those present Mr. Cantrill."

Bishop Mead speaks of William Cantrill in connection with Rev. Mr. Robert Hunt, first minister to Virginia, and it has been suggested by one writer that it is probable that "William Cantrill was present at the baptism and marriage of Pocahontas."

The Arms William Cantrill brought with him from England to America was: "Argent, A Pelican in her Piety, Sable," and a North Carolina Cantrell of to-day claims to have seen this coat-of-arms carved in the stock of an ancient gun there.

It is impossible to secure full information and data regarding the family in Virginia at this period, owing to the destruction of records during the various wars, but traditions in the family are more or less corroborated by the history of the country.

HENRY CANTRELL, according to "Robinson's MSS" administered the oath to men of experience and dignity, who were appointed as Inspectors of the tobacco crops and was a Justice in Charles City county, Va., in 1639.

Owing to the incomplete Virginia records, it has been impossible to find anything concerning the families or history of either William or Henry Cantrill, or whether either left descendants.

A thorough search of all lists of emigrants to the American Colonies in the seventeenth century, both in England and America, has failed to reveal more than two arrivals in that century in America, i. e., William Cantrill, ship Phenix, at Jamestown, Va., 1608, and John Chantrell, ship Speedwell, at Boston, Mass., 1666.

JOHN CHANTRELL arrived from England on ship Speedwell, at Boston, in 1666. His wife's name was Mary. This family were living in Boston as late as 1697 and after that there is no trace of them.

Their children were:
John, b. Feb. 1672.
Mary, b. 1673; m. Thomas Marshall, June 18, 1697.
Joseph, m. Annie Gardner, Dec. 13, 1697.
Emma, b. Apr. 15, 1678.
Dean, b. Nov. 1, 1686.

JOHN CANTRELL, living in St. John's parish, Island of Jamaica, 1670, owned twenty-one acres of land there, according to State Papers, Colonial Series, America and West Indies.

WILLIAM CANTRILL appears in a list of soldiers in "King Philip's War," by George M. Dodge, as a member of the crew of the ship Swanne, August 20, 1675. Further research showed that the ship Swanne was used for the transportation of merchandise between the Massachusetts and Virginia Colonies, and was pressed into service during the war.

ANN CANTERILL, in a list of two hundred who went from Virginia to Somerset county, Md., October, 1675.

RICHARD CANTRILL, in Philadelphia, Pa., 1689, whose descendants are given fully in this work.

JOSEPH CANTRILL, a nephew of Richard Cantrill, was drowned in the Schuykill river May 10, 1689. In a petition made to Governor Blackwell by Richard Cantrill for letters of administration to the small estate of Joseph Cantrill, it is set forth that Richard Cantrill is an uncle and nearest of kin in the province to Joseph, but that Joseph Cantrill has older and younger brothers in Derbyshire, England.

RICHARD CANTRILL

1. RICHARD CANTRILL was a resident of Philadelphia, Pa., prior to 1689. In July, 1689, he was appointed administrator of the estate of Joseph Cantrill, an unmarried nephew, who was drowned in the Schuylkill river May 10, 1689.

It has been impossible to find records to prove the parentage, or birthplace, of Richard Cantrill, but there is no doubt that he came from the Derbyshire branch of the English family. His name does not appear in any list of emigrants and he may have been a descendant of William, or Henry Cantrell, of Virginia. Fisher says, in his "Making of Pennsylvania," that "quite a number of Virginians migrated from that Colony to the Banks of the Delaware before the settlement of Philadelphia by Penn, in 1678, under the rule of the Duke of York."

From "Pennsylvania Archives," Vol. XIX:

"At a meeting of the Commissioners, 6th of July, 1692. Present Captain William Markham, Robert Turner, John Goodson, . . . Richard Cantrill requesting a warrant for a lot of 30 ft. upon Third Street, near the Burying Ground, was granted."

From Original Records, Deed Book D, 53, page 50: "Richard Cantrill to Thomas Hall, Sold 30 ft. x 190 ft. May 13, 1693, Third and Market Streets."

In Patent Book A, Vol. II, page 344, there is a lease for twenty-one years (May 5, 1702) made by Edward Shippen, Griffith Owen and James Logan, as Proprietary and Governor in Chief of Pennsylvania and Territories thereunto belonging . . . of a . . .

"Certain tract of land between Fifth and Sixth streets containing three acres and sixty perches" (here follows a full description by metes and bounds) "to Richard Cantrill, Brickmaker, with all woods and underwood and trees, ways, waters, water courses, liberties, profits, commodities, advantages and opportunities whatsoever." The rental was forty shillings per year, "current silver money of the Province." . . . "Said Richard Cantrill shall build, erect and set up a substantial brick house one story and a half in height and in breadth eighteen feet and in length thirty-six feet; the first story of one brick and a half and the second story of one brick, and further that said Richard Cantrill shall make an orchard upon some part of the hereby granted land, with at least eighty good bearing apple trees planted thereon, and shall also well and sufficiently fence and enclose the said demised land."

In "Pennsylvania Archives" we find:

"Cantrill, Old Rights: Richard Cantrill, city lot 3 acres, 10 day, 10 month, 1701. Rich. return 3 acres, 3 month 1702."

Later the Archives record a "Caveat against surveying of land adjoining Richard Cantrill's estate, issuing to the heirs, or executors of the said Richard Cantrill, or any under him, May 31, 1753."

No record could be found of the disposition of the estate of Richard Cantrill, either by his heirs or executors, but he evidently died prior to May 31, 1753.

There is a tradition common in the family that the first Cantrill in Philadelphia had a brick yard and built the first brick house in that city. Records show that "the first brick house built in Philadelphia was owned by Robert Turner in 1684–5," and in the same year Richard Cantrill's brother-in-law, Daniel Pegge, also built a brick residence on "Pegge's Run." It is possible that Richard Cantrill had the contract for erecting both of these houses, which would easily account for the tradition in the family.

In about 1693 Richard Cantrill married Dorothy Jones, daughter of Ellis and Jane Jones, who came to America from either Flint, or Denbigh, Wales, in the ship Submission, Sept., 1682.

From the Log of the Submission:

"Ellis Jones, age 45,	Jane Jones, age 40,
Barbara Jones, age 13,	Mary Jones, age 12,
Dorothy Jones, age 10,	Isaac Jones, age 4 mos."

The "Pennsylvania Historical Magazine," in a list of names of "Important Colonists, who came in the Submission," mentions Ellis Jones. He was a resident of Bucks county, 1684, but did not remain there long, and in the Welsh Tract Purchases his name appears as having purchased one hundred acres in Nantonell parish, Radnor. Barbara Jones married Daniel Pegge, of "Pegge's Run;" Mary Jones married her cousin Isaac Jones, and Dorothy Jones married Richard Cantrill.

Ellis Jones and his family were Quakers and as Richard Cantrill belonged to the Church of England, Richard and Dorothy were married, to use a Quaker term, "Out of Meeting."

Dorothy Jones Cantrill seems to have been a young lady of considerable spirit and independence of character. She not only married the man of her choice, irrespective of her religious training, but later evidence is found of her love of gayety and society in an old history of Philadelphia, where she figured at a masquerade ball, much to the horror of her more quiet Quaker friends. She seems to have inherited her love of society from her mother, for the name of Jane Jones appears as a witness to the marriage of a great many Quakers of her day, and the Quaker weddings were probably the principal events affording those of that sect an expression to their social instinct.

The will of Jane Jones, relict of Ellis Jones, executed at Philadelphia, Aug. 3, 1730, and recorded at Philadelphia, Dec. 27, 1732, mentions her grandchildren: "Zebulon Cantril, Joseph Cantril, and Dorothy Cantril," to each of whom she bequeaths: "One English shilling, or the value of it in coyn current."

Children of Richard and Dorothy Cantrill:

2. i. Mary. The Records of the Race Street Meetinghouse contain the following under "Burials of those not Friends: Mary, 1–6, 1695, parents Richard and Dorothy Cantrill."
3. *ii. Joseph.
4. *iii. Zebulon.
5. iv. Dorothy, about whom we have no record.

THE DESCENDANTS OF
JOSEPH CANTRILL
OF PHILADELPHIA

3. JOSEPH CANTRILL[2] (Richard[1]) was born about 1695 in Philadelphia, Pa., and spent his early boyhood in that city. Married Catharina ———. They were living in New Castle county, Pa., on or near the site of the present city of Wilmington, Del., and were attendants at Holy Trinity (Old Swedes) Church before 1720. It is probable that Catharina was a daughter of one of the Old Swedes, first settlers of this section, but we could not verify this. Their first three children were baptized at the old historic church still used and known as Old Swedes, which is one of the oldest and quaintest churches in this country.

Christina parish was mostly situated on both sides of Christina creek, partly on both sides of Brandywine creek in New Castle county, and in the Hundreds of New Castle, Christina and Brandywine. It stretched two Swedish miles in length and one in breadth. The most remote families of the parish were not more than six and a half English miles distant from the church. The city of Wilmington is built on the Swedish "church land" and the charter for the town was granted in 1735. At the time Joseph Cantrill went there it was known as Christina.

Many of the earliest records of this locality have been lost, or destroyed, and at best are very incomplete. There is evidence, however, from the scattered records in New Castle county to-day, that descendants of Richard Cantrill lived there from before 1720 until 1797, though the majority moved south during this period.

Children:

6. i. Hannah, b. Mar. 20, 1720; bapt. Apr. 25, 1720, at Old Swedes.
7. *ii. John.
8. *iii. Joseph.

10. * v. Isaac.
11. vi. A daughter (name unknown).

7. JOHN CANTRELL[3] (Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa. (now Delaware), Oct., 1724, and baptized in Holy Trinity (Old Swedes) church Mar. 25, 1726. He was married twice. His first wife was ——— Brittian, by whom he had seventeen sons; his second wife was Jane ———, by whom he had four sons and two daughters. We have heard from several that there were a number of twins in this large family. He died in 1803 and his sons Abraham, Stephen and Moses administered upon his estate.

There are many traditions in the family regarding John Cantrell and his family and their moving to the Carolinas, but the exact date of his leaving New Castle county is not known. It is known, however, that he was living in Rockingham county, or what is now that county, North Carolina, before the Revolutionary War, and shortly after the war he moved to Ninety Six District, now Spartanburg county, S. C., where he owned over eight hundred acres of land on Buck creek, waters of Pacolet river.

John Cantrell and his family were devoted and active workers in the Buck creek Baptist church and some of his descendants still attend this old church.

There is no reliable authority for a correct tabulation for any but the first three of the children of John Cantrell and we have endeavored to make the list correct from records, rather than from lists furnished from memory by his descendants.

12. ABRAHAM CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa., about 1744. He married twice, but we have been unable to learn the names of his wives. It is not unreasonable to suppose, however, that his second wife was a Watson. It has also been impossible to get a complete list of his children, but we secured the lines of four of his sons: the first three named were brothers and the fourth a half-brother.

Abraham Cantrell went with his parents to North Carolina and served in the Revolutionary War from the Salisbury district. His name appears on the pay rolls of North Carolina soldiers in the auditor's office at Raleigh. Tradition says that he was a captain and this is probably true, as he received more pay than others on the list.

After the Revolution he moved with his family to Spartanburg county, S. C. The first record of him in that county is in the First United States Census (1790), where he is given as a head of a family, having two sons over sixteen years of age, two sons under sixteen and a daughter.

In 1792 he purchased 192 acres of land on Buck creek. In 1803 he was one of the administrators upon the estate of his father. He died in South Carolina.

33. ABRAHAM CANTRELL[5] (Abraham,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was probably the eldest son of Abraham and one of the sons "Over sixteen years of age" mentioned in the First Census, 1790. He married Sarah Durham in Spartanburg county, S. C. In 1813 he seems to have disposed of all his property in that state and moved to Tennessee, as he received a grant of land in 1814, which is recorded at Sparta, White county, Tenn.

In the ten years following the War of 1812 a large number of Cantrells moved from the Carolinas to Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama.

In 1824 he received a grant of land on Sink creek, Warren county, which is recorded at McMinnville, Tenn.

136. WILLIAM RILEY CANTRELL[6] (John,[5] Abraham,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., July 28, 1809, and was a small boy when his parents moved over the mountains into Tennessee. Married Constance Magness, daughter of Perry G. and Mary Cantrell Magness, May 31, 1830. She was born Nov. 15, 1815; united with the Predestinarian Baptist church at old Bildad in 1850 and was a faithful and consistent member there until her death, a period of fifty-four years, as she died Aug. 18, 1904. He died Feb. 5, 1885.

One of the older members of the Cantrell family in Tennessee is our authority for saying that: "All the older Cantrells who went from the Carolinas into Tennessee were Baptists, and as there were then, as well as to-day, several kinds of Baptists, these were designated as 'Old Baptists,' 'Two Seed Baptists,' and later as 'Predestinarian Baptists.' "

13. ISAAC CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa. (now Delaware), about 1745, and went with his parents to Rockingham county, N. C., where he married Nancy ———. He is the only one of John Cantrell's twenty-one sons who has descendants of the name still living in that county.

Rockingham county was taken from Guilford county in 1785. Preivous to that time the records were at Guilford county Court House, which was, unfortunately, destroyed by fire during the Civil War and all records were lost. About 1788, however, it is recorded in a very old Baptist church record that Isaac Cantrell was an itinerant minister serving the Baptist church at Matrimony creek, Strawberry district, without pay. This is the first record of a minister in the family in America.

His name appears on the pay rolls at Raleigh, N. C., as serving in the War for American Independence from the Salisbury district. He died in Warren county, Tenn., at the home of one of his sons, several of them having settled in that state.

Children:

315. i. Sampson, of whom we have only the record that he moved from North Carolina to Tennessee.

338. FLORENCE CANTRELL joined the order of the Visitation of Blessed Virgin Mary, Monastery of Baltimore, and from there sent the following letter to Mr. Charles W. Cantrell, Corresponding Secretary of the Cantrell Reunion Committee, dated Aug. 18, 1907, in response to the invitation to go to Jamestown Exposition, to the Reunion of the Cantrell Family, Sept. 5, 1907.

"My dear kinsman:

"Through the kindness of my father, Mr. T. A. Cantrell, I am apprised of the meditated convention of all the members of the Cantrell family in the United States, at Jamestown, September 5, 1907.

"Now, it has been said that 'pity makes the whole world akin,' and, if this virtue of compassion has the property of uniting those of every rank and station, how much more so should ties of blood bind the hearts of those, whom Divine Providence has called to one and the same family, with the golden chain of love and loyalty. No words can better express this than those that support our escutcheon: 'Proprio Vos Sanguine Pasco.' May God, in His sweet mercy, make us as loyal to Him as to our own. He should come first, and, when this is so, it but intensifies our affection for those whom He has given us. As a proof of this, I write this little note of felicitation to those who will be assembled so near my cloistered home. By the vows of my profession, I am prevented from being personally present at the gathering, which, I trust, will prove all that it is desired to be.

"Extend to all my best love and well wishes, for I consider myself still a member of that family, whose spiritual and temporal interests are ever dear to my heart, and whose well being I daily solicit at the Altar of the Most High. Also, a most cordial reception awaits each and every member visiting our Monastery on Park Avenue, which is now my home, and, since it is impossible for us all to be together in this world, may it please our Divine Lord to grant us a glorious reunion in a blissful eternity. May God bless you!

"In the Sacred Heart of Jesus,

"Yours most sincerely,

"Sister Mary Cecilia Cantrell, of the "Visitation Blessed Virgin Mary.

"God be praised!"

319. ISAAC CANTRELL[5] (Isaac,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C., and probably spent his whole life there, as we have not found any record of his having left there, and many of his descendants are still living in that county. He married twice, and had several children, of whom we have only been able to trace the descendants of one son:

344. *i. John.

344. JOHN CANTRELL[6] (Isaac,[5] John,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C., where he married Polly Roach, Oct. 28, 1817. They had seven daughters, whose names we could not ascertain and three sons.

14. JACOB CANTRILL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa. (now Delaware). Went with his parents to North Carolina, where he married Mary ——— and died in Orange county in 1790.

Orange county was created in 1751; from it was taken Guilford county in 1770, and Caswell county in 1777, while Rockingham county was taken from Guilford in 1785. If the reader will bear these dates in mind, the records from the various counties in North Carolina of the family will be better understood.

Jacob Cantrill served in the War for American Independence from the Hillsboro district, and his name is on the pay roll at Raleigh.

His will was made in 1782, and probated in Orange county, N. C., in 1790. In this year Mary, widow of Jacob Cantrill, was taxed in Orange county, on 442 acres of land and two slaves. In 1798 she moved, with her family, to Green county, Kentucky, where she died.

WILL OF JACOB CANTRILL

"In the name of God; Amen, I Jacob Cantrill, of the County of Orange and Province of North Carolina, being in a low state of health, but of perfect sense and memory, thanks be to Almighty God for the same, but calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament, that is to say principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the earth, to be buried in a decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general . . . I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God.

"And as touching such worldly Estate, wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, demise, and dispose of the same in the following manner and form,

"First, I give and bequeath to my eldest daughter Martha Cantrill, one brown mare, three years old, known by the name of Bonny; one woman's saddle, one feather bed and furniture and likewise one cow and calf, to her and her heirs and assigns forever.

"Also, I give and bequeath to my daughter, Jane Cantrill, one horse and woman's saddle, worth fifteen pounds, old trade, one feather bed and furniture and likewise one cow and calf, to her and her heirs forever.

"Also, I give and bequeath to my daughter Hannah Cantrill, one horse and woman's saddle, worth fifteen pounds, old trade, one feather bed and furniture and likewise one cow and calf, to her and her heirs forever.

"Also, I give and bequeath to my daughter, Sarah Cantrill, one horse and woman's saddle, worth fifteen pounds, old trade, one feather bed and furniture, and likewise one cow and calf, to her and her heirs forever.

"Also, I give and bequeath to my daughter, Susannah Cantrill, one horse and woman's saddle, worth fifteen pounds, old trade, one feather bed and furniture, and likewise one cow and calf, to her and her heirs forever.

"Imprimis, I lend to my well beloved wife, Mary Cantrill, during her widowhood, the plantation whereon I now live, with all the land thereunto belonging, and likewise my three negroes, viz: Sam, Cate and Billy, and likewise all the rest of my estate, be it of what kind of quality soever, and at her death, if she dies my widow, that I leave that part of my estate so lent, to be equally divided between my three sons, Zebulon Cantrill, Thomas Cantrill and Joseph Cantrill; but, if in case my widow should intermarry, my will and desire is that that part of my estate so lent, should be appraised by two persons chosen by my Executors, whom I shall hereafter appoint, and if my widow and the person she intermarries, will give bond with sufficient security for the sum of money that arises from the appraisement of that part of my estate to my three sons before named, to be paid at the decease of my wife, it shall continue in their hands. If they refuse to give such bond and security, my desire is that, at my widow's intermarriage, that that part of my estate which is lent her, be taken out of her hands and divided equally between my three sons before named.

"Lastly, I appoint Joseph Cantrill, and my wife, Mary Cantrill, my whole and sole Executors, of this my last Will and Testament, revoking and disannulling all wills by me heretofore made, declaring this to be my last Will and Testament.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord Christ, one thousand, seven hundred and eighty two.

"Signed, sealed and published and declared in the presence of us:

JACOB CANTRILL. [SEAL]

471. THOMAS CANTRILL[5] (Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born Apr. 4, 1775, in Orange county, N. C., where he married Elizabeth Murray, Feb. 13, 1795, daughter of John and Jean Murray. She was born Sept. 19, 1774. John Murray was born in Pennsylvania and served in the War for American Independence from North Carolina, where his father and Uncle Robert Murray had moved from Pennsylvania with their families, previous to the Revolution. Robert Murray moved to New York City with his family later and it is from this family that the name is perpetuated in that city by Murray street, and Murray Hill. The Murray family were descended from a junior branch of the Philiphaugh (Selkirkshire) and Atholl family, of Perthshire, Scotland.

Thomas Cantrill, with his wife, mother and a number of others of the family, moved from North Carolina in 1798 to Green county, Ky. In 1828 he and his family followed his eldest son, William, to Sangamon county, Ill., where he settled on a farm three and a half miles east of Springfield, which is in possession of one of his grandsons and family to-day. His wife died Oct. 1, 1836, and two days later, Oct. 3, 1836, he died; both are buried in the family plot on the farm where they spent the last years of their lives.

He was a man of determined character: firm, reliable and steadfast in all his dealings and never wavered from his ideas of right. He was an excellent example of the pioneer of his day, moving through the wilderness with his family from North Carolina to Kentucky; thence to Illinois, and literally hewing new homes in a new country.

543. WILLIAM CANTRILL [6] (Thomas,[5] Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born Jan. 17, 1800, in Green county, Ky. In 1825 he went with his sister, Anna Black, and other members of the family, to Sangamon county, Ill., and lived with this sister until Feb. 14, 1828, when he married Elizabeth Hall.

Sangamon county was mostly settled by Kentuckians and North Carolinians and had only been a county four years when William Cantrill rode to it from his old home in Kentucky, carrying with him a long, single barrelled Kentucky rifle, that is now in the possession of the compiler of this book. The fame of the beautiful rolling prairies of that section of Illinois drew many new settlers, and in the same year he went there, Elizabeth Hall, with her uncle and aunt, Andrew and Eleanor Goodan Jones, also went from Kentucky and settled four and a half miles from Springfield, and only a mile from the farm that was destined to become the home of Cantrills for several generations.

Elizabeth Hall was born Dec. 8, 1809, in that part of Montgomery county, Ky., that afterward became Bath county. She was a daughter of David and Susan Goodan Hall. David Hall was accidently drowned in the Licking river. He was a son of Thomas Hall and Nancy Chinn, née Bartlett, his wife, of Staunton, Va. Thomas Hall was a lawyer of Augusta county, Va., and went to Boone county, Ky., before the Revolutionary War and was residing there in 1810. The War Records at Washington, D. C., show that: "Thomas Hall enlisted March 1779 at Boonesboro, Kentucky, in Colonel Daniel Boone's Regiment, Captain John Holder's Company, and was engaged in several skirmishes with the Indians." He received a pension in Montgomery county, Ky., in 1833. Thomas Hall was a son of Edward and Eleanor Stuart Hall, of Staunton, Va., and grandson of Isaac Hall, who married Sarah Allison in Pennsylvania, and went to Augusta county, Va., in 1736, with the Scotch-Irish emigrants, who went there from Lancaster county, Pa. Eleanor Stuart, wife of Edward Hall, was a daughter of Archibald Stuart, and Janet Brown, his wife. The Stuart family are of Scotch origin. During the reign of James I they removed to Ireland, where Archibald and Janet were married, and they emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1727 and to Augusta county, Va., in 1736. They were a family of wealth and distinction. On the maternal side, Elizabeth Hall Cantrill was a granddaughter of Daniel and Eleanor Goodan. The Goodans emigrated from England to Pennsylvania in 1760 and to Kentucky in the latter part of that century. Isaac Hall, a half-brother of Elizabeth, was killed in his own door yard during the Civil War by Union soldiers. He had three sons in the Confederate Army.

Elizabeth Hall Cantrill was one of less than a dozen people who organized the first Christian church at Decatur, Ill., in 1834, and was a consistent and active member until her death, Aug. 4, 1868.

In sickness and trouble her neighbors and friends turned to her instinctively for help and her home was one of the most hospitable, ready alike to receive friend and stranger, in Decatur.

William Cantrill moved with his family from Springfield, to Decatur, Ill., in 1833, taking with him the first stock of general merchandise ever taken to Decatur. The store he opened with this stock stood on the southeast corner of East Main street, on what was known for many years as the "Old Square," but is now called "Lincoln Square." In this building in 1835–36 he officiated as postmaster, stowing the little wafer sealed missives away in a small box in a corner of the store, though sometimes he was known to carry the United States mail in his hat, as the population of the village at this time was little over one hundred adults, and mail was a luxury that the receiver and not the sender paid for in those days.

He was a member of the State Legislature, and being one of the few men there who was "handy with his pen," he served several terms as county treasurer. He was a man of great influence in central Illinois; was an uncompromising Democrat all his life, and for many years wielded an influence in politics in his own and adjacent counties that defied opposition. He was Second Lieutenant in Capt. Levi Goodan's Company, Black Hawk War, 1832. This was not attached to any regiment, but was part of General Whitesides' Brigade of mounted volunteers. He died at his home in Decatur, Ill., Nov. 26, 1881, and the local papers, after giving many of the foregoing facts of his life, summed up his characteristics in these words: "His word was as good as his bond." A street in the now city of Decatur is named for him.

Children:

548. * i. Thomas.

549. ii. Jane Ellen, b. Oct. 27, 1832, at Springfield, Ill.; m. Dr. Abram Lewis Kellar, Apr. 14, 1852, at Decatur. She united early in life with the Christian church and was a devoted member and worker in the cause of Christianity and temperance all her life. She d. at Sullivan, Ill., in Oct., 1892.

Dr. Kellar was b. in Oldham county, Ky., Dec. 16, 1827; son of Abram H. and Nancy Hitt Kellar. Was educated at Bacon College, Harrodsburg, Ky., and the medical department of the University of Louisville, graduating from the latter Mar. 1, 1851. He spent many years of his life as a physician in Decatur, Shelbyville and Sullivan, Ill., combining with this work a good deal of preaching and teaching at the Christian church at Sullivan, whenever that church was without a pastor. He has been a great student of the Bible and was well fitted for the large amount of church work that he has done. He now lives with his children in southern California.

Children:

1. Louis Gerard Kellar, d. in infancy.
2. Charles Henry Kellar, b. in 1854; m. Sarah Dilsaver; d. in Sullivan, Ill., in Sept., 1900. He was a worthy representative of his family in every way.

3. Addie Evelyn Kellar, b. in Sullivan, Ill., in 1857; m. Dr. J. M. Goodwin, of Toledo, Ill., in Feb., 1884; moved to Pomona, Cal., where she d. in 1894. She had a most beautiful Christian character and devoted her whole life in loving service to others.

Children:

I. Edna Goodwin, d. in infancy.

II. Guy Goodwin.

4. Edgar Harlan Kellar, b. June 18, 1863, in Sullivan, Ill; m. Lida Stewart, daughter of Dr. J. M. Stewart, of Exeter, Ill., Apr. 14, 1886. Both graduated from Eureka College and also Des Moines College, and thereby hangs a romance. The young people met at Eureka College and learned something there not found in the curriculum. Dr. Stewart thinking his daughter too young for marriage transferred her to another college, but the same year found Edgar Kellar among the students there. Dr. Stewart still thinking his daughter too young to be married proposed to take her for a trip around the world, but this proved no inducement and the young people carried the day and were married. Edgar Kellar studied at the Union Theological College, New York City, for the ministry, and has had charge of various churches of the Christian denomination in the South and Middle West, among them being the Christian church at Galveston, one at St. Louis and one at Carrolton, Mo. He is now engaged in mission work at Los Angeles, Cal.

550. iii. Mary Elizabeth, b. Sept. 27, 1835, at Decatur, Ill.; m. Dr. William Dillon, Apr. 14, 1854; d. Oct. 26, 1883. She was a devoted mother, a kind neighbor and, owing to her sunny and lovable disposition, her friends were legion.

Dr. Dillon was b. in Culpepper Court House, Va.; son of Joshua and Elizabeth Jeffries Dillon and grandson of Samuel and Nancy Fletcher Dillon. Samuel Dillon served in the War of 1812 and his father, who was b. in Loudon county, Va., was a soldier in the American Revolution. Elizabeth Jeffries was a descendant of Sir Herbert Jeffries, one of the early Colonial Governors of Virginia. Dr. Dillon was educated at Cincinnati Eclectic College, and practiced as a physician many years in Decatur, Ill., and Payson, Ill., where they lived from 1865 to 1883, when they returned to Decatur, where he d. in June, 1889.

551. iv. Susan Lavinia, compiler of this book, was b. July 3, 1844, at Decatur, Ill.; m. Capt. Harlan Page Christie, Nov. 16, 1862, at Decatur. Harlan Page Christie, b. Apr. 2, 1839, at Springfield, Ohio, son of James Smith and Laura Beardsley Christie. James Christie was an Elder for over fifty years in the First Presbyterian church at Springfield, Ohio, and a son of Robert and Rebecca Smith Christie. Robert Christie was a major in the Vermont State Militia and a volunteer in the War of 1812; he was a Mason of high standing, being a Master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio; was a son of Jesse and Mary Gregg Christie. Jesse Christie was a lieutenant in Colonel Moore's New Hampshire regiment during the Revolution; was a deacon in the Congregational church at New Londonderry, N. H., and was always known by that title. The Christies were in New Hampshire in 1717 and are of Scotch-Irish descent. In 1818 Deacon Jesse, Major Robert and James Christie (the latter being a young man about twenty years of age), went overland from Vermont, where they had lived a short time, after leaving New Hampshire, to Springfield, Ohio, and settled in that country when the Indians were the principal inhabitants. From Pittsburg these early settlers travelled in crude flat boats to Cincinnati, and many a shot was exchanged with Indians along the banks of the Ohio river. Five generations of Christies have lived and died at Springfield. James and Laura Beardsley Christie; Jesse (brother of James) and Martha Lowry Christie, and Mary (sister of James and Jesse), who married Louis Bancroft, were all married at Springfield, Ohio, and all lived to celebrate their golden weddings in that place.

On the maternal side, Harlan Page Christie has the following ancestry: his mother, Laura Beardsley, was a daughter of Elijah and Sarah Hubbell Beardsley, of Fairfield, Conn. Elijah Beardsley enlisted at the age of seventeen in the 7th Connecticut Regiment, 1777, and served three years; three of his sons were in the War of 1812. He was a son of Phineas and Ruth Fairchild Beardsley. Phineas Beardsley was a captain of the company, in which his son was a private, and was a son of Obadiah Beardsley, a very prominent man in Colonial days, and his wife, Mercy Jackson. Obadiah was a son of John and Mary Booth Beardsley. John was a son of Samuel and Abigail Beardsley. Samuel was a son of William and Mary Beardsley, who came from Stratford, England, in 1635, in the ship Planter, and settled at Stratford, and later in Fairfield county, Conn.

Harlan Page Christie was educated at Wittenberg College. Enlisted in the Union Army, April 13, 1861. A month later was made second lieutenant, Company F., 2d Ohio; later was commissioned as adjutant of 58th Ohio; was at Battles of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Arkansas Post and Vicksburg, was detailed on the staff of Maj. Gen. John A. McClernand, as acting assistant adjutant general of 13th Army Corps, which position he held until his resignation, in May, 1863. From 1864 to 1881 was engaged in mercantile business in Decatur, Ill.; in 1882 moved with his family to Chelsea, Mass.; in 1883 to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he now holds a position in the Finance Department of the city of New York. He was a member of Dunham Post, the first G. A. R. Post organized, and is now a member of Grant Post, No. 327, Brooklyn; is department commander of the state of New York of the Army and Navy Union; ex-commander of Roe Garrison, A. & N. U.; is a 32d degree Scottish Rite Mason and member of the orders of K. P. and I. O. O. F.

472. JOSEPH CANTRILL [5] (Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Orange county, N. C., about 1777 and went with his mother, brothers and sisters to Green county, Ky., in 1798. Married Miriam Fugate and they moved to Bourbon county, Ky., where the old homestead is still in a fine state of preservation. The Fugate family went from Virginia to Kentucky.

He was a "self-made" man of fine character; pious, intelligent and industrious and made a fortune for his family. He was a colonel of state militia and was, naturally, of a soldierly bearing and disposition.

His granddaughter, Mrs. Trimble, writes:

"I can recall seeing him drill and command a regiment of State Guards, when I was a child. The plumes in his hat and the customary paraphernalia of the times made a lasting impression upon me."

Another granddaughter, Mrs. Fannie Pugh Arnold, writes:

"My noble grandfather, Joseph Cantrill, who of all the men I have ever known, represented in a higher degree the ideal manhood. I revere his memory and my soul delights to honor him. Reared under his paternal care from infancy to matured girlhood I cannot recall a single act, or word, that would not have won the approval of the Great Teacher. Nature has stamped him a gentleman, but he needed no culture in refinement; his life was the highest standard."

586. EDWARD CANTRILL[6] (Joseph,[5] Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Bourbon county, Ky. Married Susan Wroe Edwards, daughter of George and Elizabeth Monroe Edwards, natives of Virginia and pioneer settlers of Kentucky; granddaughter of Hayden and Penelope Sandford Edwards, also natives of Virginia and pioneer settlers of Kentucky. The old Edwards' homestead, near the old Cantrill homestead, is still in a wonderful state of preservation, and on the estate are pear trees a hundred years old that still bear finely every year. William Edwards arrived in Virginia in 1635 in the bark Ye Merchants Hope and settled in James City county. He was a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses in 1653; patented large tracts of land in the counties of James City, Surrey, Isle of Wight, Norfolk and Lancaster. A bond given by him in 1659 is recorded in Surrey county, witnessed by John Washington, father of George Washington. His second son, William Edward, married Ann Harrison, daughter of Col. Benjamin Harrison, grandfather of Benjamin Harrison, of "Berkeley," a signer of the Declaration of Independence and father and great-grandfather, respectively, of Gen. William Henry Harrison and Gen. Benjamin Harrison, ex-Presidents of the United States. William Edwards, son of William and Ann Harrison Edwards, born in 1687; married in 1712 Miss Hayden, of Lancaster county, Va., and their son, Hayden Edwards, born in 1723 in Northumberland county, Va., married in 1747 Penelope Sandford, of Stafford county, Va., and moved to Kentucky in 1787; their eldest son, John Edwards, married Miss Wroe, of Prince William county, Va., and moved to Kentucky in 1780; was United States Senator from Kentucky in 1791–94. His brother, Benjamin Edwards, had a son Ninian, born in 1785, who moved to Kentucky in 1804; was a representative in the Legislature before he was twenty-one years of age; judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky in 1806; Territorial Governor in Illinois, 1809–18; United States Senator from Illinois, 1818–24; Governor of Illinois, 1826; his son, Ninian Wirt Edwards, married Elizabeth, half-sister of Mary Todd, wife of ex-President Abraham Lincoln. George Edward, another brother of William, married Elizabeth Monroe, cousin of ex-President James Monroe.

611. JAMES EDWARDS CANTRILL[7] (Edward,[6] Joseph,[5] Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Bourbon county, Ky., Jan. 20, 1839. Married (1) Jennie Moore, Jan. 5, 1869, who was a granddaughter of Rev. Barton W. Stone, one of the most gifted and noted ministers of the Christian church. A correspondent, who knew him well, writes: "He was a man of more than usual culture; a fine scholar, classical in his learning and forcible in argument. Alexander Campbell, who was his compeer, told me after Elder Stone's death that he (Stone) was the purest, ablest man he had ever met, his own father, Thomas Campbell excepted. As a writer he was clear and pointed and his work on the Atonement is a standard. For the age in which he lived he was a leader in religious and literary thought." Jennie Moore Cantrill died Jan. 4, 1878, leaving one son, and James Edwards Cantrill married (2) Mary Cecil, daughter of James Granville and Sarah A. Buster Cecil, Oct. 13, 1881.

The Cecils were descendants of Samuel Cecil, who emigrated from England to Maryland, and for whom Cecil county, in that state, is named. The family were very prominent in the early history of Maryland. There is a tradition in the family that "the Cecils were descended from the first Lord Burleigh," whose capacity for government was at once recognized by Queen Elizabeth, and who was appointed by her as Chief Secretary of State. To quote from an old history: "A life of Cecil from this time until his death, would be a forty years' history of England, when England was greatest, seeing that he was alike the originator and director of that policy, which made Elizabeth's reign memorable above that of any other English sovereign."

Mary Cecil Cantrill was born in Monticello, Wayne county, Ky. Her early girlhood was spent in Boyle county, near Danville, where she was partly educated, but the greater part of her school life was spent at Daughter's College, Harrodsburg, Ky. She was appointed by President Benjamin Harrison one of eight members at large of the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, Ill., 1893. At this Exposition she was one of twenty-six of the Executive Committee and Chairman of the National Floral Emblem Committee. She nominated Mrs. Potter Palmer for President of the Board of Lady Managers. She was appointed to represent Kentucky at the Atlanta Exposition in 1895 and at the Nashville Exposition in 1898. She is a member of the Daughters of the Confederacy and a very prominent and active worker in that organization.

James Edwards Cantrill graduated from Georgetown College and is an eminent lawyer and jurist, well known all over the country, and recognized as one of the most successful members of the bar in the south. He has been a life long Democrat and has represented Scott county in the Legislature and also in the State Senate. In 1879 he was elected Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky. Held the position of judge of the 14th Judicial District of Kentucky many years and has been judge of the Appellate Court since 1903.

Following excerpts are from the "Biographical Encyclopedia": "Captain James Edwards Cantrill . . . enlisted under Colonel Humphrey Marshall in West Virginia about the time Generals Bragg and Kirby Smith were invading the state. . . . He served as Private, Captain and Major in the Confederate Army; participated in the terrible battles of Perryville and Stone river, besides minor engagements. After these battles Bragg fell back to Tullahoma, Tennessee, and Rosecrans took position at Murfreesboro. About this time Captain Cantrill was detailed with a Company for scouting service at the front of General Bragg's Army. He served faithfully in this arduous and dangerous duty during that winter, never in all that time sleeping within the picket lines. In the Spring his Regiment was assigned to General John H. Morgan's Command. . . . Judge Cantrill is a mason of high standing; a Knight Templar and Grand Junior of the Grand Commandery. He is a ready and forcible speaker and a writer of merit."

Children:

616. JAMES CAMPBELL CANTRILL[8] (James Edwards,[7] Edward,[6] Joseph,[5] Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born at Georgetown, Ky., in 1871. Married Carrie Payne, daughter of John F. Payne, in 1893.

He was educated at Georgetown College and the University of Virginia. Was elected to the State Legislature in 1898 and, after serving four years, was elected in 1902, State Senator. He is the youngest member of the Senate, being just within the constitutional age. He and his wife are members of the Christian church and live on a large farm near Georgetown, Ky.

Child:

619. i. James Edwards, b. in 1897.

587. JOSEPH CANTRILL[6] (Joseph,[5] Jacob,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Bourbon county, Ky., in 1813. Married (1) Elivra Wigglesworth; no children; married (2) Susan Allen, daughter of Asa and Sallie Dooley Allen. Asa Allen was born in Virginia and was among the party of Scotch Irish who went from Staunton, Va., to Kentucky in 1783. They lived in Bourbon county, Ky., and Susan Allen Cantrill died Feb. 23, 1902, near Paris.

Joseph Cantrill was educated at Lexington and Louisville and attended medical lectures in Philadelphia. He was for many years a very prominent physician in Bourbon county, Ky. Died in Fayette county, near Lexington, in 1885.

628. ii. Mary Frances.
629. iii. Nellie.

15. JOSEPH CANTRILL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was probably born in New Castle county, Pa. (now Delaware), and was a young boy when his parents moved to North Carolina. We could not learn the name of his wife, but he married in North Carolina and remained there the rest of his life.

It is claimed that he was in the Revolutionary War and that his record is at Raleigh, N. C.

He was executor of the will of his brother, Jacob Cantrill, in 1790, and his own will was probated at Hillsboro, May, 1804. It is probable that his wife died before he did, as her name is not mentioned in the will.

WILL OF JOSEPH CANTRILL

He was probably the youngest child of Joseph Cantrill and inherited the old homestead, where his father died. He owned large tracts of land in Caswell and Orange counties and a mill, which was situated on Stoney creek. His will was probated in Orange county, N. C., May, 1838.

WILL OF ISAAC CANTRILL

"I first desire that all my just debts should be paid and the debts due me should be collected as soon as convenient after my decease.

"Secondly, I loan to my beloved wife, Rutha Cantrill, the use of my lands and mill; stock of every description that I own, with all my household and kitchen furniture, crops and provisions on hand and farming tools.

"I also loan to my wife, during her natural life, or widowhood, three negro boys: Frank, Jim and Wesson; in case of her marriage, to be disposed of after my debts and other expenses of settling my estate. What money may remain to be loaned out at interest, and that my wife should annually have the interest for the use and benefit of herself and children.

"I give to my wife discretionary power of selling a part of the stock loaned her, at any time, that should increase faster than may be needed for the use of my wife and children: the money arising to be used in support of my wife and children.

"I also direct my wife should sell my negro man, George, at the end of the year 1838, to any person my said wife may think proper, provided she can get $600.

"I request my wife that as any of my children become of lawful age, or marry, that she should give to them such property as she can conveniently spare, provided the amount so given should not exceed a child's part of my estate, at the time such property is given; this should be valued and charged to the child as a part of his, or her, interest in my estate.

"The hire of my negro man, George, for the year 1838, to John Haydon, for the sum of $125, for which I hold his bond, be used, principal and interest for my wife and children, if it is needed.

"In case of the marriage of my wife, it is my will that my property be equally divided between my wife and children share and share alike.

"In case of the death of my wife, the estate to be equally divided between my children share and share alike.

"I appoint my beloved wife, Rutha Cantrill, my executrix of this my last will and testament.

"Given under my hand and seal this 10th day of November, 1837.

(Signed) "ISAAC CANTRILL."

WILL OF JOHN CANTRELL

"I, John Cantrell, of the State of South Carolina, and the County of Spartanburg, being of sound mind and memory, do make and constitute this my last Will and Testament, in manner and form following, that is to say, I recommend my soul to God and my body to a Christian burial.

"First: I will that all my just debts be paid, also

"I give and bequeath unto my daughter, Anna Turner, one hundred acres of land, more or less, lying on the Maple Swamp, on both sides of the creek.

"I also give and bequeath unto my daughter Synthia, one bed and two pillows and slips, four civer lids, one bed quilt, six sheets, one cow, one chest, one pot, one oven, one wheel, and table pair of cards.

"I give and bequeath unto my loving wife, Elizabeth Cantrell, the remainder of my estate, both real and personal, during the time of her natural life, or widowhood, to be equally divided amongst my children, at her death, that is to say: Abraham, Isaac, and my daughter Tilitha's heirs, and Betsey, William, Polly, Martin, Berry, Anna, Sally and her heirs, and Synthia; also twenty-five dollars to be given to my granddaughter Janny Robbins.

"Lastly, I appoint my three sons, William Cantrell, Martin Cantrell and Berry Cantrell, executors of this my last Will and Testament.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 30th day of March, 1823.

(Signed) "JOHN CANTRELL.

824. ROBERT CANTRELL[6] (Isaac,[5] John,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born Nov. 9, 1823, in Warren county, Tenn. Married Martha Magness, daughter of Perry G. and Mary Cantrell Magness, Dec. 23, 1846. She was born Dec. 15, 1831, and died Mar. 1, 1897.

During the Civil War he organized a company at Smithville, Tenn., of which he became captain. Later served as colonel. Was wounded at the Battle of Shiloh and, afterward, not being able to serve actively on the field, served as commissary.

Judge Robert Cantrell and his wife celebrated their Golden Wedding, Dec. 23, 1896, upon which memorable occasion their eight living children, with all their families, were present.

The following excerpts are from a local paper of Lebanon, Tenn., where Judge Cantrell died Feb. 9, 1903.

". . . . Commencing life a poor boy, he worked, by strict attention to his professional duties to the topmost round in the legal profession in Tennessee. He was twice honored by the people of the Judicial circuit and in his judicial career was proverbial for tempering justice with mercy. . . . In private life no object of charity ever appealed to him in vain. His domestic life was one continued ray of sunshine. . . . He was admitted to the Bar in 1849, and came to Lebanon in 1866, remaining in our midst from that time until his death. In the fullest sense of the phrase he was a self-made man. In early life he had almost none of the advantages now so accessible to a young man of ambition. . . . He acquired a rudimentary knowledge of the law under the most adverse circumstances. . . . Judge Cantrell was not discouraged by the difficulties then common to young men choosing the law as a profession, but with courageous tenacity he clung to his purpose and to his profession to the day of his death. To such a degree was this true, that it became the subject of common remark among his friends and gentlemen of the profession. Such tenacity and fixedness of purpose, which characterized his whole life, was followed by most natural results. He became a successful practitioner, ranked as one of the best lawyers of the state and for sixteen years served with distinction upon the bench. He represented De Kalb county in the Legislature. . . . As a citizen he was generous, helpful, public spirited and always found upon the moral side of every question. He demonstrated, as others have before in this community, that a lawyer may also be an exemplary Christian. . . . He was a member of the Methodist church."

He accumulated a large fortune, and at the time of his death was one of the wealthiest citizens of Spartanburg. His wife died before he did, and there were no children. His will was a peculiar one: in it he stipulated bequests to each and all of his nephews and nieces, the remainder of his estate to be divided among his "poor and deserving kin." The question arose who were the "poor and deserving kin," and the matter was referred to the court. The decision was that after paying to the heirs named in the will the portions they were to receive, that the remainder should be equally divided between the "nearest of his kin." The estate proved to be much larger than anticipated, so his brothers and sisters received a considerable amount.

1006. WILLIAM HENRY CANTRELL[6] (William,[5] John,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C. She was a descendant of the Terrell family of Virginia and was a highly cultivated and estimable woman. Married (2) Hester High, daughter of Barnwell and Annie Wingo High, at Mt. Zion on Big Tiger river, about 1857; five children. The High family was among the first settlers of Spartanburg county. Married (3) Dorothy Thompson, daughter of William and ——— Lee Thompson, about 1883.

He served in the C. S. A. during the Civil War and saw much hard service. Walked home barefooted from Appomattox court house, after the surrender: a hard, tedious journey: his heart was not in the surrender: "He was not ready to stop fighting and go home." He lives at Boiling Springs, S. C.

1008. ISAAC HAZEL CANTRELL[6] (William,[5] John,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born Nov. 10, 1827, in Spartanburg county, S. C. Went with his parents to Alabama, but returned later to Spartanburg when of age, and married (1) Susan Eliott Littlejohn, daughter of Dr. Felix and Susan Nuckols Littlejohn. Married (2) Elizabeth Davenport.

The maternal grandfather of Susan Littlejohn Cantrell was John Nuckols, who met a tragic death at the hands of the Tories, during the Revolutionary War. He was serving in Upper Carolina, and the soldiers in that section could often go home and remain for a few days: when necessity arose they would rally at some appointed place and enter the field again. It was upon one of these visits home that John Nuckols, with his son John, a mere lad, went to the mill on Broad river, some eighteen miles away. In those days it is said that millers provided a room in the mill for customers who were detained over night, and the distance being so great John Nuckols and his son had to remain at the mill. Tradition says that on his way to the mill a man who learned he was to remain there over night, mustered a small crowd of Tories in the neighborhood, went to the mill, awoke Mr. Nuckols and prepared to kill him. He asked for permission to pray, which was granted. He prayed aloud and after he had uttered a few sentences, which were beautiful and touching, one of the men said: "If he continues to pray like that, we will not be able to kill him;" so he shot him while he was praying. He is buried at Whig Hill, with the inscription on his tombstone:

"John Nuckols. Killed by the Tories."

Isaac Hazel Cantrell served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. Was for many years actively engaged in business at Spartanburg, but has now retired and lives at Hendersonville, N. C. He also has a place on the French Broad river in the mountains of western North Carolina.

20. AARON CANTRELL.

21. SIMON CANTRELL.

22. PETER CANTRELL.

AARON, SIMON and PETER CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) were young boys when the Revolution broke out, living with their parents in Spartanburg county, S. C. In 1780-81, they were among the South Carolina lads who acted as scouts to Gen. Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox."

We read in history that:

"In the darkest hour of the American cause in South Carolina, Marion, who had already distinguished himself as an officer, formed 'Marion's Brigade.' His men were armed with what they could get. Some carried rude sabres hammered out of old saws: their bullets were often made by melting down pewter mugs and platters. Their costumes were often grotesque, the majority being raggedly clothed, with small skin caps on their heads, as shabby as themselves. They lived chiefly on hominy and potatoes and they were capable of any amount of hardship, in which their Commander set them a good example by sleeping on the ground, usually without a blanket. With this force Marion would move with incredible swiftness, striking now one weak point in the enemy's defenses, and then quickly falling on another far away. He knew every by-way: it was impossible to entrap this swamp-fox. When hard pressed by the enemy, he would disband his force, leaving every man to extricate himself. He gave the British no peace." With all his boldness, Francis Marion was famed for the sweetness of his temper and his men were devoted to him.

Into this irregular warfare, near the close of the Revolution, our three young Cantrell soldiers entered. We regret our inability to find exact record of their fearless service, but the very nature of it made this almost impossible. There is the following well-known tradition extant in many branches of the family regarding them:

Aaron, Simon and Peter Cantrell were taken prisoners while on scout duty and condemned to be shot. They were bound by cords and led to a lonely spot. Some of the traditions relate that both Aaron and Peter escaped, and as there were several Aaron and Peter Cantrells of that age in South Carolina, this may be true, but we could not verify this. Others say that only Peter escaped: that in running away, he fell over a tree and severed the cords that bound him, which enabled him to run the faster and gain General Marion's camp, some two miles away, in safety.

Simon Cantrell was bound to a stake. He asked for time to pray; but while praying his captors, said to be Colonel Tarleton's men, fairly riddled his body with bullets.

23. THOMAS CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born Jan. 23, 1761. About 1780 he married Elizabeth Norris, daughter of Thomas Norris, who served in the Revolutionary War from Pennsylvania. She was born Mar. 10, 1765. After their marriage they first settled in Greenville district, S. C., but later moved to Tennessee. It has been said that he was the first of the name to migrate to that state. He settled on Sink creek, De Kalb county, where he operated an iron forge, which is still called the "Old Forge," and where one of his descendants now lives.

The War Records, at Washington, D. C., show that "Thomas Cantrell served as a member, rank and company not stated, of Lieutenant Colonel Lytle's command, Caswell county, North Carolina, Revolutionary War." His name has been found only on a list, not dated, of men "enrolled for Captain Robert Moore, from Caswell county.

There is a tradition, which comes from William Magness Cantrell, that: "Thomas Cantrell, in company with Mr. Adcock, who was an uncle of his grandmother, were captured at the battle of the Cowpens, S. C., and placed on a British ship to be sent to England. After getting some four miles from land, they escaped by jumping overboard and swimming to shore, having to escape not only the dangers of the sea, but also the fire of the British."

He was a deacon in the Baptist church. He and his wife are buried in the old cemetery at Grady, Tenn. This town was first known as Cantrell's Cross Roads; later the name was changed to Williamsburg, and to-day is known as Grady. The inscription on his tombstone reads:

"Here lies the body of Thomas Cantrelle, Born January 23, 1761. Died September 25, 1830."

Children:

1091. * i. Isaac.
1092. * ii. Jacob.
1093. iii. Mary, b. Dec. 13, 1784, in South Carolina; m. William Henry Cooke, in 1804. He was b. May 15, 1784, in Culpepper county, Va., and was a son of Robert and Susannah Watson Cooke. Robert Cooke was in the Revolutionary War and served under Washington at Valley Forge; d. Nov. 12, 1841, at the age of eighty-nine years.

William Henry Cooke was deputy surveyor in Spartanburg county, S. C., in 1807. In 1820 he moved with his family to McMinn county, Tenn., where he purchased a large tract of land in the Hiwassee district, on the Conesauga. One of his descendants writes:

"It is over eighty years since William Henry and Mary Cantrell Cooke came to their new home in Tennessee. The country was new and they reached the end of their long, tiresome journey just at nightfall. It was raining; there was no house to receive them and a temporary shelter was hastily erected. Beneath that, wrapped in quilts, with her babe in her arms, all through that dark, rainy night, sat Mary Cantrell Cooke weeping, so dreary and lonely seemed the prospect. Nevertheless she was a woman of strong mind and great capabilities. Her husband was an upright and enterprising citizen, but she was the potent factor in the training of her children: one of their sons became a noted lawyer and judge; another a Baptist minister; another an excellent physician, and still another, one of the most influential citizens in the section in which he lived. She was founder and promoter of the Conesauga Baptist church. The hill where the family spent their first night in Tennessee was afterward given as a burial spot for his kindred by William H. Cooke: his wife was the first to be laid there, and one week later he was placed by her side. Now many of the descendants of the first, second and third generation are sleeping there."

5. George Washington Cooke, b. Oct. 16, 1813, in Greenville district, S. C., m. Sarah Jane Gilbreath, Oct. 22, 1840; daughter of Joseph Gilbreath, who moved to McMinn county, locating at Coy Hill in 1826. In 1836 she attended school at Athens, at which period the buildings were principally log; the Baptist church was also of this construction. In that church she tells of the first sermon she ever heard: the preacher wore neither coat nor vest, but with shirt sleeves rolled up to the elbows, collar thrown open, he dispensed the Word with all the fervor and simplicity of the times. Some of the audience looked so primitive that one would have connected them with Noah and the Ark. She d. Apr. 29, 1905, having been a devoted member of the Conesauga Baptist church for sixty years. One of her descendants writes that: "she was a woman of strong convictions, pure in thought and action, her aspirations were characteristic of noble womanhood. George Washington Cooke d. A., and at the close of the Civil War moved to Chattanooga, where he was a prominent and leading citizen during the remainder of his life. He was a member of the legislature; district attorney general of the Judicial Circuit and judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee. Died in Chattanooga, Apr. 18, 1899. His character is well indicated by the following inscription on his monument in the Old Citizens and Confederate Cemetery at Chattanooga, which reads: "A learned lawyer. A just judge. A brave soldier, and an honest man."

Judge Cooke accumulated and prepared considerable data regarding the Cantrell family, under the guidance of his mother, which has been of great service to the compiler of this book.

He graduated from the University of Tennessee in the class of 1885. Studied law in the office of Judge James Burch Cooke and was admitted to the Bar in 1887. He is a prominent and successful lawyer of Chattanooga, Tenn., where he is identified with many public institutions. Without solicitation on his part he was elected to the office of city attorney, which position he filled very acceptably for two terms.

He modestly disclaims any special power as a writer, but his friends assert that articles emanating from his pen have materially assisted in improving both city ordinances and laws for better government in the state.

He was secretary of the Cantrell Reunion Committee, and was unanimously elected president of the Cantrell Family Association, which was organized at the meeting held Sept. 5, 1907, at the Jamestown Exposition.

1147. JACOB LEE CANTRELL[7] (Thomas W.,[6] Jacob,[5] Thomas,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in McMinn county, Tenn. He moved to Texas, where he married Eliza Steele, daughter of Milton and Susan Milam Steele, of Grayson county, Tex.

1209. MALCOLM CANTRELL [6] (David,[5] Thomas,[4] John,[3]

Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born May 17, 1836. Married Attaline Cooke, daughter of George W. and Sarah Cooke, and granddaughter of William Henry and Mary Cantrell Cooke, Dec. 1, 1864. His wife lived only two and a half years after their marriage, and although he was yet a young man, he never married again. As she grew older, the tastes, habits and knowledge of his daughter made her a congenial companion.

He was converted and joined Zion Hill Baptist church in McMinn county, Tenn., at the age of fourteen years. At his death, Oct. 17, 1899, he had been clerk of Conesauga Baptist church for twenty-five years. He was a physician and when he died many were heard to say that: "He was the best man in the world." He was even-tempered, modest and retiring, but was withal a man of firm convictions. A nephew in writing of him, said that he "was a model of simple, earnest Christian manhood, whose memory I revere."

Child:

1234. i. Laura Attaline, m. Phillip Kinser, who is a druggist at Tellico Junction, Tenn.

Children:

24. REUBEN CANTRELL [4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C., about 1762, where he married and in 1790 had three sons under sixteen years of age and one daughter.

This family probably moved to Rutherford, now Buncombe county, N. C., about 1800, or shortly after.

Children:

1235. * i. Samuel.

1236. ii. Reuben, who owned land in 1814 on Thickety creek, a branch of the Broad river.

1237. iii. Jacob, who lived in Rutherford county, and owned land there. In 1840 he bought some land from Elias Cantrell which was located on Rockey Spur, Walnut Mountain, adjoining his own land.

1238. iv. Daughter. Name unknown.

1235. SAMUEL CANTRELL [5] (Reuben,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born about 1785 in Rockingham county, but went to Rutherford, now Buncombe county, N. C., when a boy and married Mary Giles in that county about 1818.

He entered a state grant of 125 acres of land, Nov. 11, 1826, and his name appears in deeds in 1828, 1829, 1833 and later.

1271. ii. Hilliard, m. Minnie Reeves.
1272. iii. Nettie, m. Robert Orr.

There are records in Buncombe county and Henderson county, N. C., of other Cantrells, whom we have been unable to place.

It is probable that Reuben Cantrell and Jacob Cantrell, sons of Reuben Cantrell, Sr., married and had sons, but we were unable to verify this.

Elias Cantrell, whose land adjoined Jacob Cantrell's on Rocky Spur, Walnut Mountain, was Deputy Sheriff in Hendersonville, and a man of high standing and excellent reputation. We have been informed that he was not a brother of Jacob Cantrell, but it is not improbable that he was a son of Jacob Cantrell.

Gelford Cantrell had a state grant of land made to him Apr. 9, 1828, but does not appear to be of this branch of the family, although living in Buncombe county.

The following were probably of this branch:

John Cantrell, who married Sarah E. Sumner, Sept. 30, 1860.

B. R. Cantrell, who married Ava H. Beck, at Sandy Bush, N. C.

Alfred Cantrell, whose name appears in deeds in Buncombe county.

25. EDWARD CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]). Married in Rockingham county, N. C., and in the census of 1790 is given as a head of a family, with four sons under sixteen years of age.

Children:

1273. i.
1274. ii.
1275. iii.
1276. iv.

Marriages were not recorded in Rockingham county, N. C., until about 1800, and as we could not find the wills of Charles, Joshua or Edward Cantrell, who all lived and married in that county, nor any of the descendants who could enlighten us, we cannot give the names of the wives, or children, of these three sons of John Cantrell. It is probable that the following are descendants, however, as their marriages were recorded at Wentworth, Rockingham county.

Robert Cantrel to Nancy Shreves, Jan. 13, 1808.

William Carroll to Sarah Cantrel, Mar. 30, 1819.

Thompson Cantrel to Delpha Burnett, June 11, 1835.

James Cantrel to Ruth Sanders, Jan. 16, 1800.

Andrew Cantrel to Missouri King, Jan. 9, 1861.

26. BENJAMIN CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C., probably about 1768, and was a small boy when his parents moved to Spartanburg county, S. C. At the time of the fighting in Ninety Six district, during the Revolution, he was a lad of about twelve years of age; it is said that while he was ploughing in the fields, that by lying with his ear to the ground he could distinctly hear the roar of the cannon. He appears in the census of 1790 as "Head of a family" in Spartanburg county. Married (1) Charity Legat; ten children; married (2) Polly Magness and (3) Hannah Powell. There were no children by either of the last marriages.

About 1814 he moved with his family to Tennessee, near the present site of Smithville. A grant of land made to him at this time is recorded at Sparta, White county. He died in Warren county, Tenn., about 1843.

Children:

1277. * i. Peter.
1278. * ii. James.
1279. * iii. Rayburn.

1280. BENJAMIN CANTRELL [5] (Benjamin,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C. Went with his parents to Tennessee, where he married Frances Fowler.

He was a remarkably strong man and many stories are told regarding his power of endurance. At one time he lifted eleven hundred pounds of copper in a square box. This feat was published far and wide in the newspapers and a challenge sent out for a competition in lifting heavy weights, but no one was found who could compete with him.

Children:
1318. i. Elias.
1319. ii. Benjamin.
1320. iii. Allen.
1321. iv. Anderson.
1322. v. Matilda.

28. JAMES CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C. Went with his parents to Spartanburg county, S. C., where he married Elizabeth ———.

He owned a plantation on Buck creek and the family were members of the Buck creek Baptist church. Surrounding this old church is a graveyard still in use, which has been used since 1775. The first arrangement was very primitive: there were no plots, but burials were made in rows, and the rows named for the families using them. In the Cantrell row are many old tombstones so worn with age that it is difficult to decipher them; but in it were placed James Cantrell, Elizabeth, his wife, and other members of their family.

He served with distinction in the War of 1812.

It has been impossible to get a complete list of his children, but he had a son:

Child:
1324. *i. Thomas.

1324. THOMAS CANTRELL[5] (James,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., where he married Margaret McAdams about 1804.

29. WILLIAM CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Rockingham county, N. C., about 1766. Married Elizabeth Wilkens in 1788 in Spartanburg county, S. C. She was a daughter of Col. William and Elizabeth Wilkens and was born Aug. 11, 1771. The Wilkens family were among the first settlers of Spartanburg county. They settled in the vicinity of Goucher's creek, before the Revolutionary War and William Wilkens served as a colonel. His wife was Elizabeth, daughter of Edward Terrell, of the Terrell family of Culpepper county, Va.

William Cantrell purchased land on Goucher's creek, Nov. 30, 1797, and a few years later on the North Pacolet river, adjoining land owned by William Wilkens. He accumulated considerable property on the fork of Pacolet river, adjoining Buck creek, and it is said that he was called "Billy Cantrell, Gentleman" because he owned so much land and so many slaves. He made deeds, Nov. 2, 1827, for over 1,300 acres of land to William Cantrell, Jr. The witnesses being Milly Duncan, Catherine Jones and Col. William Wilkens. Sometime about 1840, or later, all his children moved to Georgia and Alabama.

1385. viii. Aaron. (See Supplement regarding this family.)

1383. WILLIAM CANTRELL[5] (William,[4] John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., about 1801. Probably married in that state. Moved to Campbell county, Ga., where he died. He was a physician.

Child:

1386. i. Oscar, b. in 1837. His parents died when he was young and his uncle, James Madison Cantrell, educated him. He lived a number of years in Atlanta, Ga. Married and had two children (names not given). His wife and both children died and he left Atlanta about 1878. His family lost trace of him.

It is probable that this was the Oscar Cantrell who was living in Mt. Holly, S. C., some years ago, and who wrote that his father was William Cantrell, born in Spartanburg county, S. C., in 1801. Oscar Cantrell, of Mt. Holly, died about four years ago.

30. MOSES CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was one of the administrators of the estate of his father in 1803. We could not learn anything about his descendants, if any.

He owned 250 acres of land on Island creek, Pacolet river, Spartanburg county, S. C. In this county there is a record of a deed to Moses L. Cantrell dated Jan. 30, 1840.

31. DANIEL CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) owned considerable property in Spartanburg county, S. C. Married and had several children. July 20, 1841, he made deeds of gift to children named below, who left descendants whom we have not been able to trace. The witnesses to the deeds mentioned were Mark Forest, Peter Cantrell, Charles Cantrell and Isaac Cantrell, but there is nothing to show whether the three last were sons of Daniel Cantrell, or whether they were sons of Isaac Cantrell, Sr., who also lived in that vicinity, and had sons named Peter and Charles.

Children:

1387. i. Jane, m. James Kinsman, to whom he gave 100 acres.
1388. ii. Berryman, to whom he gave 200 acres.
1389. iii. Isaac Cantrell, to whom he gave 200 acres.
1390. iv. Sarah, m. Anderson Findley, to whom he gave 100 acres.

32. GABRIEL CANTRELL[4] (John,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was the youngest of John Cantrill's twenty-one sons. There is a tradition that he never married, but that he accumulated considerable property.

8. JOSEPH CANTRILL[3] (Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa., June, 1726, and was baptized, Dec. 10, 1726, at Holy Trinity (Old Swedes) church, in what is now Wilmington, Del. He probably moved to North Carolina at the same time his brother John Cantrill went there, before the Revolution, as there is a tradition that there was a large caravan who moved south at the same time. It is probable that he and his family settled in Randolph county, N. C., and that the two following were his sons.

Children:

1391. i. Charles, b. about 1750; m. in Randolph county, N. C., in 1772.
1392. ii. Joseph, b. about 1752; m. in Randolph county, N. C., in 1774.

9. ZEBULON CANTRELL[3] (Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born about 1728 in New Castle county, Pa. Married Mary Montgomery. He died when his children were young and his widow married (2) David Henly, of Virginia, a Baptist minister.

Children:

1393. i. A daughter (name unknown), m. William Nolen. They moved to Tennessee, founded the village of Nolensville, Williamson county.
1394. ii. A daughter (name unknown), m. Joel Chitwood. They moved to Tennessee and settled on Cave creek, Lincoln county, near Fayetteville.
1395. *iii. Stephen.

1395. STEPHEN CANTRELL [4] (Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in 1758 and died in Sumner county, Tenn., Feb. 5, 1827. He married Mary S. Blakemore, at Fort Blount, Tenn., in 1782. She was a daughter of Maj. John Blakemore, of the famous "Donelson Expedition" and was born in North Carolina, Mar. 8, 1765, and died Aug. 2, 1849.

He probably went to North Carolina at the time of the large exodus south of the Cantrell family, as he was in the service of the Continental Commissioners of that state as Captain of the Guard, during the Revolutionary War. For the faithful discharge of his duties he was awarded a grant of land, 640 acres on Stewart's creek, Davidson county, Tenn. The deed is recorded at Nashville. This land lay in what was afterwards Sumner county, Tenn., which was taken in 1786, by authority of North Carolina, off the east side of Davidson county.

During the years of 1792–93, Stephen Cantrell was captain of a company of sixty-three men, organized for the protection of the country against the inroads of the Indians.

He and William Montgomery were the first representatives from Sumner county to the First Legislature in Tennessee, which met Mar. 28, 1796, at Knoxville. He was senator from Sumner county in 1797. See Appendix for Stephen Cantrell's Will.

1396. STEPHEN CANTRELL [5] (Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born Mar. 10, 1783, in Sumner county, Tenn. Died Sept. 5, 1854, near Pine Bluff, Ark. Married Jan. 2, 1807, Juliet Ann Deaderick Wendel, daughter of David and Susanna Deaderick Wendel, of Winchester, Va., where she was born Apr. 8, 1787. She died at Nashville, July 3, 1839. Her maternal grandfather, David Deaderick, Sr., of Wurtemburg, Germany, emigrated to America before 1750, and was among the German Pennsylvanians who settled Winchester, Va., the oldest town in the Shenandoah Valley. She was a woman noted for her kindness and goodness; of a deeply religious nature, she endeavored to practice the teachings of Christianity in her daily life. She was a close communicant of the Presbyterian church for many years and left a lasting impression of tenderness and love upon her family and friends.

Stephen Cantrell was commissary and quartermaster during the Creek War; pension agent for all middle Tennessee for many years; county magistrate; mayor of Nashville; president of the Bank of Nashville and was interested in different mercantile pursuits; finally was a cotton planter on the Arkansas river.

Married Clara Walker, Nov. 26, 1849, daughter of Robert T. Walker, a Scotchman and merchant of Nashville, who was born Dec. 15, 1824. Her mother was Adeline Poston Walker, of Clarksville, Tenn., who lost her life, with an infant son in her arms, in the burning of the steamer Brandywine, on the Mississippi river, below Memphis, in 1830.

Clara Walker Cantrell died Apr. 2, 1891, at Nashville. One of her sons writes of her:

"She was the personification of unselfishness. A member of the Presbyterian church, her life was that of a true Christian woman: Christian in the full and liberal sense, not erratic and narrow, but practical and broad, doing as she would be done by and always striving to impress this Golden Rule upon those about her."

George Michael Deaderick Cantrell was an official in the Union Bank of Tennessee; Planter's Bank of Tennessee and Fourth National Bank of Nashville for many years. In the latter years of his life he collected a great deal of material regarding the history of this branch of the Cantrell family, that has been of the greatest help in this work.

He was a member and an officer of the First Presbyterian church at Nashville for half a century. One of his sons writes of him:

"As a Christian gentleman, pure in all his words and deeds, he left us the richest heritage, a spotless character; such a one as family, kindred and friends may look upon and remember with pride. He was of that old school of gentlemen fast passing away."

1428. JULIAN WENDEL CANTRELL[7] (George M. D.,[6] Stephen,[5] Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 1, 1867. He is soliciting freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line, with headquarters at Nashville.

1416. WILLIAM ARMOUR CANTRELL[6] (Stephen,[5] Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born near Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 22, 1826. Died at Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 28, 1903. Married Ellen Maria Harrell, Feb. 13, 1852. She was born at Princess Anne Court House, Va., and was a daughter of Rev. Samuel and Ellen Catherine Collins Harrell, of Gatesville, N. C.; granddaughter of Rev. Asa and Rachel Beeman Harrell (Rev. Asa Harrell served in the Revolutionary War with Gen. Horatio Gates in South Carolina); great-granddaughter of Jesse and Mary Night Harrell, of Harrellsville, N. C.; also great-granddaughter of Israel and Elishua Savage Beeman. Ellen Harrell Cantrell is the author of many magazine articles and of a handsome volume of 390 pages, entitled: "The Annals of Christ Church Parish, Little Rock, Arkansas," the Mother Protestant Episcopal church of the west and southwest. She is a graduate of the Nashville Female Academy and of the French Academy and is proficient in music. She represented the state of Arkansas at the World's Fair at Chicago, as essayist, and at the Exposition at Nashville. She has served as state regent of Arkansas, National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution and has also been a devoted and active worker many years in Christ Church.

William Armour Cantrell graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, Mar. 6, 1847; was assistant physician at Bellevue Hospital, New York City; physician at the Nursery Hospital at Blackwell's Island, N. Y., and at the New Orleans Hospital, where he treated yellow fever in epidemic form. He removed to Pine Bluff, Ark., to be near his aged father, and after his father's death, in 1854, settled in Little Rock, Ark., where he built a commodious brick residence in 1860, which was his home the remainder of his life.

Dr. Cantrell filled successively and honorably the positions of city physician, county physician, president of the state board of medical examiners, president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and delegate to the Medical Association at Nashville, besides attending to a large practice. He was a noted surgeon.

During the Civil War he performed distinguished service in the Confederate Army. Was appointed surgeon of Col. T. J. Churchill's regiment, 1st Arkansas mounted volunteers in 1861. After the war he was urged to take charge of the United States Post Hospital at Little Rock and accepted, holding the position as acting assistant surgeon during the command of Brevet Major General Arnold, Captain Light Battery G, Fifth Artillery and that of Col. C. H. Smith, 28th Infantry, a period of five years. His record at that hospital added much to his reputation for sagacity and skill already earned. Later he had charge of the medical department at the School for the Blind in Little Rock.

In 1855 Dr. Cantrell and his wife became members of Christ Church (Protestant Episcopal). Dr. Cantrell was a member of the vestry of that church for over forty-five years and was a senior warden for over ten years.

At the time of his death, a friend said of him:

"He was one of the best known and esteemed men in this vicinity, and his nature was so rounded that he overflowed with the milk of human kindness. Generous and good, he cherished no ill feelings against any one, and it was remarked by all who knew him that in thought, speech and action, he was one of the most charitable of men. Beloved by all classes, the humblest as well as the highest in our midst will miss with poignant regret his cheery greeting and sincere sympathy."

We quote the following regarding Dr. Cantrell from the "Biographical and Historical Memoirs of Central Arkansas:"

"While the social amenity of his disposition and grace of manner have caused him to be sought by the most polished circles, the earnest simplicity and sympathy of his nature have endeared him to the most humble in rank. Like a full river, bravely bearing its own burdens to the sea, yet dispensing life and refreshment on each side, his course has shown a long succession of private and public services, which prove that the prominent desire of his soul has been to be useful."

She was a daughter of Judge George Webster and Louise Douglass Allen. Judge Allen was at one time attorney general for the state of Tennessee; circuit judge of Sumner county, and one of the best known lawyers of his time. When he died all the citizens of Gallatin ceased work and closed business for twenty-four hours in his honor. Judge Allen's sister, Eliza H., was the first wife of Gen. Samuel Houston, who at the time of their marriage was Governor of Tennessee, and was later President and Governor of Texas.

Early in life Charles C. Cantrell entered the mercantile business, forming a partnership with Maj. John D. Allen (afterward his brother-in-law). At the beginning of the Civil War, he enlisted as a private in Maj. D. C. Douglass' Battalion of Cavalry, C. S. A. He was detailed later as commissary sergeant with Major Bridgewater's command, General Martin's division. He served with the army from Murfreesboro, Tenn., to Atlanta, Ga., and surrendered at Company Shops, N. C., in Apr., 1865, with rank of captain.

After the war, Captain Cantrell entered the milling business with his former partner, Major Allen. In 1868 he moved to Nashville and in 1890 to Louisville. He and his wife now reside at Sparta, Tenn., with their eldest daughter.

He has been a devout Christian from childhood, being a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. He is also a member of the Frank Cheatham Bivouac of Confederate Veterans.

Capt. Charles Cantrell is six feet high, with an erect military carriage, blue gray eyes, gray hair, and from many sources in the south we have heard that he, Judge Robert Cantrell and Judge James E. Cantrill were the three courtliest and handsomest men in that section of the United States.

1495. JAMES M. CANTRELL[6] (Darby H.,[5] Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Sumner county, Tenn., Feb. 7, 1837. Married Kate Milam in Apr., 1866. She was a daughter of Col. Andrew and Talitha Cartwright Milam and was born May 20, 1842.

James M. Cantrell enlisted in the Confederate Army, 1st Tennessee Cavalry, under Capt. L. K. Hooper, Wheeler's Division, and served three years. Was taken prisoner at Swan creek and sent to the Penitentiary at Nashville, where he remained about one month, when he was transferred to Camp Chase, Ohio, and held until the surrender. After the war he returned to the old homestead of his father and grandfather (where the latter is buried), and has been engaged there ever since in farming and stock raising.

Children:
1503. i. Andrew, d. young.
1504. * ii. James M.

1504. JAMES M. CANTRELL, JR.[7] (James M.,[6] Darby H.,[5] Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]), was born in Sumner county, Tenn. Married Lillie Groves.

1406. GEORGE CLINTON CANTRELL[5] (Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Sumner county, Tenn., about 1805. Married (1) ——— Davenport, daughter of Dr. Davenport, of Davidson county, who lived only a short time after their marriage. Married (2) Ellen Catherine Jennings, eldest daughter of Allen and May Catherine Moorman Jennings, of Hardinsburg, Ky. July 10, 1849. He was a cotton planter for many years of his life, but spent the last few years at Nashville, where he died in 1881.

Children:
1508. i. Kate, m. Charles Hazen Eastman, Feb. 23, 1871. In 1861 when Charles H. Eastman was but a lad of sixteen years of age, he entered the Confederate Army, and was surrendered under General Johnston, at Greensboro, N. C., in Apr., 1865. He has been twice elected clerk of the County Court of Davidson county, Tenn., and has been for eighteen years one of the general agents of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company. His father, Elbridge Gerry Eastman, was for many years leading editor of the Democratic organ for Tennessee, "The Union and American," and a direct descendant of Ebenezer Eastman, one of the founders of Concord, N. H.

1509. ii. William J., unmarried.
1510. iii. White, d. young.
1511. iv. George Clinton, unmarried.
1512. v. Margaret R., m. William Pressley Tanner, of Athens, Ala., Dec. 4, 1879.

2. Ellen Loud.

1517. x. Lillian, m. Leon Trousdale, Jr., Dec. 28, 1892, who was a son of Leon Trousdale, a colonel in the Confederate Army, and for many years after the war state superintendent of public instruction.

Children:
1. Leon Trousdale, 3d.
2. Charles Eastman Trousdale.

1513. CHARLES MOORMAN CANTRELL [6] (George C.,[5] Stephen,[4] Zebulon,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Sumner county, Tenn. Married Jennie Wells, of Grundy county.

Children:
1518. i. Ellen Josephine.
1519. ii. Leon Trousdale.

10. ISAAC CANTRELL [3] (Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born in New Castle county, Pa., probably about 1729. Married and moved to North Carolina. It has been impossible to get a complete list of his children, or the order in which they were born, but the following names were furnished by descendants of this line, as given:

Children:
1520. * i. Isaac.
1521. * ii. James.
1522. iii. Elizabeth, m. her cousin, John M. Cantrell, called "Miller John." (See his line.)

1520. ISAAC CANTRELL, JR.[4] (Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was probably born in New Castle county, Pa. That Isaac Cantrell and his family went to the Carolinas is certain, but we do not know to what section they first moved. It is claimed that Isaac and James Cantrell were the first of the name to settle in Spartanburg county, S. C., but whether this was Isaac Cantrell, Sr., or Isaac Cantrell, Jr., is not known. This branch of the family were later joined in South Carolina by their uncle John Cantrell, who came from North Carolina.

Isaac Cantrell settled on Pacolet river, where he owned large tracts of land, near where Buck creek church now is. He married twice, the name of his first wife is not known; (2) Mary Leonard. The first two children were by his first wife. He died in 1805 and his will was probated in Spartanburg county.

WILL OF ISAAC CANTRELL

"I give and bequeath unto my loving wife, Mary Cantrell, all my real and personal estate, during the time of her natural life, or widowhood, except the money that is now in my hands.

"I will that it be equally divided amongst all my children, except my son Elijah Cantrell's heirs; to the two children he left at his decease, I will that they have of my estate ten shillings between them.

"I also except George Pirtle, and my grandson, Isaac Pirtle, George Pirtle's son. I give and bequeath to George Pirtle five shillings and to my grandson, Isaac Pirtle, five shillings.

"I also give and bequeath to my son Enoch Cantrell and his heirs, after the decease of my wife, one negro boy named Watt.

"I also give to my son Lanceford one negro named Sam.

"I also give to my son Abraham one negro woman, Poll, except her increase.

"I also give to my son Caleb, the child the wench now has named Will, if he dies before he is ten years old, then to have the next living child, and the other increase left to the disposal of my wife: if no living children, the wench to be equally divided between Abraham and Caleb, at the decease of my wife.

"I also will that my wife give the children that are now under her care, when they leave her what she thinks necessary, and also will that she give Nimrod such necessaries as the rest had, when she thinks good.

(Signed) "ISAAC CANTRELL.

"Executors:
"Mary Cantrell.
"George Pirtle."

In 1830 Mary, widow of Isaac Cantrell, by a deed of gift gave a number of negroes and a large tract of land to her children: Nimrod, Caleb, Abraham, Lanceford and Enoch and grandchildren: Mark Cantrell, Peter Cantrell (sons of Elijah), and Isaac Pirtle.

Children:

1523. i. Charles, whose name appears in deeds and other documents in Spartanburg county, S. C., but we could find no trace of his descendants.
1524. * ii. Peter.
1525. * iii. Elijah.
1526. iv. Daughter (name not known), m. George Pirtle; d. and left a son.
Child:
1. Isaac Pirtle.
1527. * v. Enoch.
1528. vi. Lanceford, lived and died in Spartanburg county. No record of family.
1529. vii. Abraham, sold all his property in South Carolina, in 1816, and went to Warren county, Tenn. No record of his family.
1530. viii. Caleb.
1531. ix. Nimrod.

N. B. Lanceford, Abraham, Caleb and Nimrod Cantrell's names appear in a great many deeds of land in Spartanburg county, S. C., but we could not find any of their descendants. As there are a number of the name now living in that county, whom we have been unable to locate, it is probable that some of them are descendants of this branch of the family.

1524. PETER CANTRELL [5] (Isaac,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard [1]) was born before the Revolutionary War, probably in Spartanburg county, S. C., and died in that county in 1831. Married Sarah ———.

There is a record of a protest by Peter Cantrell, in 1806, in reference to the settlement of the estate of his father, Isaac Cantrell.

Peter Cantrell died intestate and in the settlement of his estate mention is made of his wife, Sarah, and the following children and grandchildren, as heirs-at-law.

Children:

1532. i. Sarah.
1533. ii. John H.
1534. iii. Swan.
1535. iv. Daniel D.
1536. v. Alfred.
1537. vi. James.
1538. vii. Rachel, m. Nathan Parris.
Children:
1. Hazel Parris.
2. Jemima Parris.
3. Caroline Parris.
4. Calvin Parris.
5. Margaret Parris.
6. Sarah Parris.
7. Ezekiel Parris.

1539. viii. Nancy, m. Simpson Gilbert.
1540. ix. William.
1541. x. Peter.
1542. xi. Memory.
1543. xii. Arlina.
1544. xiii. Adaline.
1545. xiv. Calvin.

Grandchildren:
1. Luke Dempsey.
2. Henry Dempsey.
3. Balum Dempsey.

1525. ELIJAH CANTRELL[5] (Isaac,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., where he married and spent all his life.

Children:
1546. *i. Mark.
1547. ii. Peter.

1546. MARK CANTRELL[6] (Elijah,[5] Isaac,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C.

In 1836 Mark Cantrell made a deed of gift of land, negroes, stock, etc., to his wife, Sarah, and his daughter, Mary.

Child:
1548. i. Mary, m. ——— Burnett. They lived on Pacolet river.
Child:
1. Mark Burnett.

1527. ENOCH CANTRELL[5] (Isaac,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., where he married Mary ———. He had been dead for many years when his wife, Mary Cantrell, died in 1844.

Child:
1549. *i. Enoch.

1549. ENOCH CANTRELL[6] (Enoch,[5] Isaac,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C. Married Nancy ———. He died in 1847 and his will was probated at Spartanburg.

Children:
1550. i. Mary Ann, m. Robert Belcher.
1551. ii. Elizabeth, m. James Horton.
1552. iii. John.
1553. iv. Tilda.
1554. v. Enoch F. M.
1555. vi. Nancy.
1556. vii. Margaret.

1521. JAMES CANTRELL[4] (Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was probably born in Pennsylvania and moved to South Carolina before the Revolutionary War. He received a grant of land in Spartanburg county, from William Moultrie, Esq., then governor commander in chief of the state of South Carolina. (No date.) Was given as head of a family, in the census of 1790 and is remembered by the older members of the family as having settled, with his brother Isaac, in South Carolina, according to traditions there, before any others of the name had come to that section. He married Peggy ———.

James Cantrell owned large tracts of land on Pacolet river. His will was probated Jan. 10, 1838, and his wife, Peggy, was executrix.

Children.

1557. i. John, m. Rebecca Thorne.
1558. ii. Nancy, m. William Turner.
1559. iii. Sallie, m. James Ezell.
1560. iv. Henry, m. (1) Annie Kimbal; m. (2) Ankey Smith.
1561. v. Aaron, m. Tempie Davis.
1562. vi. James, m. Bettie Cooley.
1563. * vii. Zibeon.
1564. viii. Rebecca, m. Joseph Robbins.
1565. ix. Peggy, never married. It was claimed that Peggy Cantrell was a doctress of wonderful success; that the power of healing was revealed to her in a vision, or dream, and that the cures of all sorts of disease that she effected were marvellous. She was called to heal the sick for many miles around, going far and near on horseback, even into other states.

1563. ZIBEON CANTRELL[5] (James,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C., where he married Frances Davis. They had children, but we could only trace one.

Child:

1566. i. William.

1566. WILLIAM CANTRELL[6] (Zibeon,[5] James,[4] Isaac,[3] Joseph,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Spartanburg county, S. C. Married Margaret D. ———.

William Cantrell was killed in the Civil War. He probably was in the 2d South Carolina Regiment, Colonel Bacon. He made a will, dated May 5, 1862, in which he gives and bequeaths everything to his wife, Margaret D. Cantrell, and his son Zibeon, "should I not return from the war," and appointed his father, Zibeon Cantrell, and R. Arnold, executors. The will was probated Dec. 11, 1862. It is not known where he lost his life.

Child:

1567. i. Zibeon.

THE DESCENDANTS OF
ZEBULON CANTRELL
OF PHILADELPHIA

4. ZEBULON CANTRELL[2] (Richard[1]) was born in Philadelphia, Pa., about 1697. His name appears on a tax list in Chester county, Pa., in 1718. He probably married in that locality and moved later into the Welsh Tract district, New Castle county, Pa.

Zebulon Cantrell was witness to the will of Thomas Edmond, in the Hundred of Pencader, county of New Castle, Jan. 6, 1758, and also appeared when the will was probated July 21, 1758.

In 1763 he purchased 200 acres of land in Mill creek Hundred. The records of New Castle county, as stated before, are very incomplete and unsatisfactory: they do not show what disposition was made of this property, nor what became of him. He was a cordwainer, and this property lay on White Clay creek, with a landing on the water, and also extended along the King's Road, which ran from New Castle to Philadelphia, and was one of the first roads made in this country. This old road was a century old when Zebulon Cantrell came to live upon it, and all the great dignitaries and high officials from before William Penn had traversed that way. What tales history suggests in connection with it! Old homes a hundred and a hundred and fifty years of age still stand along it: the occupants of some of them, although living in them a generation or more, cannot even tell who built them.

It has been impossible to get a correct list, or to learn the exact number of children Zebulon Cantrell had, but it is probable that there were several. Samuel Cantrell, mentioned in unclassified of the name in the back of this book, was probably one of his descendants, as he lived on the old King's Road at Newton, about two or three miles from the Mill creek property.

There is a tradition among his descendants that he and his son,

Joseph, moved to Botetourt county, Va., before the Revolutionary War, which is probably true, as members of this branch of the family were living in that locality at the time of the Revolution.

Children:

1568. * i. Joseph.

1569. ii. Sarah, m. David Miles, July 5, 1756, in White Clay Creek Hundred. The Miles family were among the founders and most influential members of the old Welsh Tract Baptist church, the "Mother church" of this denomination in this country.

1568. JOSEPH CANTRELL[3] (Zebulon,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Pennsylvania, probably between 1720–25. It is most likely that he married in New Castle county, Pa., and moved to Botetourt county, Va., some time before the Revolutionary War.

As in the case of his father, it is probable that there were a number of children in this family, but the only one whose descendants can be positively traced are those of his son Joshua.

Jeremiah Cantrell, given among the unclassified in the back of this book, doubtless was a grandson of Joseph, as he was born in Botetourt county, Va. Records do not show that any other branch of the family settled in this section. It is also probable that some of the descendants went south.

Child:

1570. *i. Joshua.

1570. JOSHUA CANTRELL[4] (Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard[1]) was born Aug. 8, 1748, in Pennsylvania and was a lad when his parents moved to Botetourt county, Va. Married Ann Graham. She was born May 3, 1751, and died Feb. 9, 1819. They were married and living in Botetourt county as early as 1773. In 1789 when the tide of emigration turned westward, they went with their family to what afterwards became Bath county, Ky., where he died Sept. 9, 1800.

It is said that Joshua Cantrell and his father, Joseph Cantrell, were both many years ruling elders in the Presbyterian church.

Joshua Cantril was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. One of his grandsons has the original copy of the oath of allegiance taken by Joshua Cantril, which reads as follows:

"Pittsylvania County. I do hereby certify that Joshua Cantril, oath taken and subscribed the oath of affirmation of allegiance and fidelity, as directed by an act of General Assembly, entitled, An act to oblige the free male inhabitants of this state above a certain age to give assurance of allegiance to the same, and for other purposes. Witness my hand and seal this 6th day of September, 1777.

1616. FREDERICK AUGUSTUS CANTRALL [8] (William J.,[7]

John,[6] Zebulon G.,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard [1]) was born at Waynesville, Ill., Feb. 9, 1857. Married Mary E. Teeter, of Washington, Iowa, Jan. 19, 1878. She was born Mar. 21 1858.

Frederick A. Cantrall went with his father to Denver, Colo., after the death of his mother in 1871, and entered the office of the "Denver Times," to learn the trade of a printer. He remained in Denver until 1883, when he went to Chicago, where he was connected for seven years with the "Chicago Inter Ocean." He was with the "Butte (Montana) Miner" two years and then returned to Denver, where he is now connected with the "Denver Evening Post."

1605. ZEBULON DANIEL CANTRELL [7] (John,[6] Zebulon G.,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard [1]) was born Aug. 28, 1833, near Cantrall, Sangamon county, Ill. Married Susan Foreman, Dec. 13, 1855. She was born near Pharisburg, Ohio, Mar. 21, 1835, and was a daughter of Thomas and Mississippi Foreman. Her mother was born in what was known as the French settlement in Illinois, Sept. 3, 1803.

Zebulon D. Cantrell and his father travelled across country from Waynesville to Clinton, Ill., in 1854, looking for a farm. They could have purchased the best land at $1.25 per acre. They decided that the land could never be cultivated and that only a small strip along the timber would ever be fit for habitation. In 1858, when Zebulon Cantrell and his wife moved to a farm six miles west of Wapella, bought from the Illinois Central Railroad Company, their friends repeatedly said that they would starve living so far from the timber. It would be impossible to describe their early experiences on the uncultivated prairie, but there was always room in their home for the traveller and there seemed to be no limit when it came to entertaining their friends. The farm he improved became one of the best farms in the state.

Zebulon Cantrell was an elder and leader in the Elm Grove Presbyterian church, near his farm. He was a justice of the peace for twenty-five years and held many other positions of trust. He died May 16, 1897.

1609. MILES TROTTER CANTRELL [7] (John,[6] Zebulon,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard [1]) was born Nov. 11, 1843, near Waynesville, Ill. Married Isabelle Martin, Dec. 24, 1863, at Atlanta, Ill. She was a daughter of Rev. Samuel H. Martin, of the Methodist Episcopal church, and was reared near Clinton, Ill. She died Sept. 4, 1903, and the "Wilson County (Kansas) Citizen" said of her: "The religious community has lost in her one of its most gifted and efficient exponents."

Miles Trotter Cantrell was in Company E, 68th Illinois Infantry, most of the time serving in the Army of the Potomac. He taught school eleven years. In 1872 he moved with his family to Kansas, where he spent eight years farming. He was then appointed deputy postmaster at Fredonia, Kan. After having entire charge of this office for five years, he was appointed postmaster and served until the change of administration. Later he was again appointed deputy postmaster. He was twice elected and once appointed county commissioner of Wilson county, and was a justice of the peace at Fredonia. He was an elder in the Centralia, and later in the Fredonia Presbyterian churches. He died at Fredonia, Kan., Nov. 4, 1906, and the local papers, in speaking of his death, said:

"No one in this locality equalled him in extending assistance and sympathy and in performing deeds of kindness and helpfulness in hours of sickness and death."

1574. JOSHUA CANTRALL[5] (Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard [1]) was born in Botetourt county, Va., Apr. 3, 1779. He was ten years of age when his father moved to Kentucky. Married Rachel McCollam, Apr. 11, 1799, in Kentucky. She was born in Virginia, Apr. 2, 1781, and was probably a daughter of John McCollam, to whom certain land was deeded in Montgomery county, Ky., in 1801. This deed was witnessed by one William Cantrell and the heirs of J. Cantrell were mentioned. The deed is now in the possession of Charles Rogers Cantrall, a grandson of Joshua.

He died Aug. 11, 1840, and his wife died Jan. 1, 1849.

Just a week before the uprising and massacre of white settlers by the Cherokee Indians in Bath county, Ky., in 1811, Joshua Cantrall, his family and probably all his father's family moved to Clark county, Ohio. From there he and his family moved to Illinois, in 1835, settling near Waynesville. On the farm which he improved there, which is about a mile from Waynesville, there is a pear tree still standing (1907) which he planted, which is now an immense tree, and often bears fifty bushels of little sugar pears. This farm is now the property and home of James Cantrall, a grandson.

Joshua Cantrall was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church at Buck Creek, Champaign county, Ohio; also an elder of the Presbyterian church of Waynesville, Ill., from the time of its organization in his own home in 1836, until his death. He had visited a meeting of the Sangamon county Presbytery and secured an order for the organization. The congregation worshipped in his house, or in the woods near by for two years before erecting its first church building. According to a statement made by his son Levi, in the "Herald and Presbyter" some years before his death, Joshua Cantrall, and his father, Joshua Cantrall, Sr., and his grandfather, Joseph Cantrall, were all ruling elders in the Presbyterian church.

Joshua Cantrall began life a poor man, but left each of his nine children two hundred acres of land. None of the nine children died under the age of fifty-two years, and one, Levi, was over eighty-six. His daughter, Polly, was the first girl married in De Witt county after its organization. His will was the first probated in that county.

Joshua Cantrall had a flint gun, with which he killed more than a thousand deer. This gun is now in the possession of Frank Ross Cantrall, a great-grandson, and is always to be in the possession of the oldest living male descendant of Thomas Dunham Cantrall.

1694. ZEBULON CANTRALL[6] (Joshua,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard[1]) was born in Kentucky, Aug. 24, 1805, and was, therefore, only six years of age when his parents moved to Clark county, Ohio. Married Mary McLain, Mar. 27, 1828. She was a daughter of James and Deborah Runyon McLain, of Champaign county, Ohio, and was born Feb. 19, 1809. She united with the Buck creek Presbyterian church at the age of twenty-one years. She died near Waynesville, Ill., Feb. 22, 1882. He died Sept. 3, 1861.

Zebulon Cantrall and his family moved to Illinois in 1834 and settled near Waynesville. He and his wife were charter members of the Presbyterian church there, which was organized June 26, 1836. He was elected an elder of this church at the time of its organization and held the position until his death, excepting only a few years, during which he helped to organize the Presbyterian church at Atlanta, Ill., and was serving as an elder to the new church, until they were able to get on without assistance. He went to Atlanta at this time to service, while his family worshipped at Waynesville. He led the music in church services and taught singing school. His son Robert, who died at the age of nine years, accompanied him on horseback and beat time for the class with his father's cane.

Zebulon Cantrall was a great hunter, making long trips for deer, and using the flint gun his father had used for the same purpose in Kentucky and Ohio.

He was justice of the peace several years and associate judge of Logan county, Ill., for many years. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention, which nominated Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency in 1860.

The Minturn family was related to the Cantrall, Clark, Jones, Earsom, McLain and Fox families, all of whom lived not far from the Buck creek settlement, in Champaign county, Ohio. The name was originally spelled Minthorn, according to a sampler now in the possession of H. Alma Fox Cantrall, wife of Thomas Dunham Cantrall, and which was worked by her great-grandmother Minthorn.

Smith Minturn Cantrall was a farmer in early life; later was a merchant at Midland City, Ill., and still later a farmer in South Dakota, where he died, at Tyndall, May 24, 1902, and was buried near his home in Waconda, S. D. He and his family were members of the Presbyterian church.

1708. THOMAS DUNHAM CANTRALL[7] (Zebulon,[6] Joshua,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard [1]) was born near Waynesville, Ill., Mar. 27, 1841. Married H. Alma Fox, at Rosedale, near Mechanicsburg, Madison county, Ohio, Sept. 2, 1863. She was born in Madison county, Ohio, and was a daughter of John and Elizabeth Jones Fox. Was educated at Delaware College. John Fox was a son of Daniel, who was a son of Rudolph Fox, and was born in New York. He studied medicine when a young man, but did not practice. Was a successful farmer and country merchant. He was an abolitionist and Methodist class leader. His wife was a sister of the wife of John McCollam Cantrall: their grandmother Jones was the fifth white child born in the Mad River settlement in Ohio and remembered when the settlers had to run to blockhouses for protection from the Indians. The Jones family were of Welsh and Scotch-Irish origin and the name was originally spelled McJones.

Thomas Dunham Cantrall was a farmer during all his active life. In 1876 he sold his farms in Illinois, and moved to near Fredonia, Kan., where he improved his 320 acres farm.

He united with the Presbyterian church at Waynesville, Ill., at the age of fifteen years. Was elected to an office in the church, but refused to serve on account of his youth. When the Presbyterian church was organized at Fredonia, Kan., he was elected deacon, and served while his health permitted. When the handsome brick church was built in 1906, he was appropriately awarded the honor of laying the cornerstone, by reason of his, and his wife, being the only remaining charter members. After years of intense anguish of body, borne with remarkable Christian fortitude, he died Christmas Day, 1906, having lived a quiet, unassuming life of sturdy convictions and abiding integrity.

Went with his parents to near Fredonia, Kan., in 1876, where he married Mary D. G. Lansden, Dec. 24, 1891. She was a daughter of Rev. Robert K. and Elizabeth Traughber Lansden and was born in, or near, Decatur, Ill. She was educated at the Greenfield (Mo.) Cumberland Presbyterian College. Her father, her father's father and her mother's father, Rev. Daniel Traughber, were all three ministers in the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Frank Ross Cantrall has been for a number of years, and is now, deputy grand master workman in the jurisdiction of Kansas. His work requires constant travel over the state. His home is at Fredonia, Kan., where he and his wife are members of the Presbyterian church. They have no children.

Frank Ross Cantrall has in his possession the old flint gun with which his great-grandfather, Joshua Cantrall, killed more than a thousand deer.

1723. CHARLES McKEE CANTRALL[8] (Thomas D.,[7] Zebulon,[6] Joshua,[5] Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard[1]) was born near Waynesville, Ill., Aug. 4, 1869. When he was ten years of age his father moved to near Fredonia, Kan., where he grew to manhood. Married Anna Hawley Wood, June 28, 1893. She was a daughter of Harvey Scribner and Sarah Woods Phillips Wood and was born in Marysville, Ohio, Oct. 25, 1870. Her father was First Lieutenant, Company F, 16th Ohio Volunteers. They moved to Fredonia, Kan., in 1884, and she united with the Presbyterian church there in 1889. She carried some of the studies in both college and theological seminary, while her husband was attending them.

Charles McKee Cantrall graduated from the Fredonia High School in 1891. Attended the Presbyterian College, at Emporia, Kan., the next year, after which he was Presbyterian Sunday School Missionary in Northern Nebraska. In 1895 he entered the theological seminary at Danville, Ky.; at the same time carrying work in Centre College, on the same campus, and graduated from the seminary in 1898. He was ordained Sept. 14, 1898, by Neosho Presbytery, Synod of Kansas, at Pittsburg. In the spring of 1900 he accepted a call to the pastorate of the Arundel Avenue Presbyterian church, at Emporia, Kan., and again took up college work in 1902, with the degree of A. B. from the College of Emporia. Since the fall of 1902, he has been a graduate student in the University of Nebraska, at Lincoln, and pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Raymond, Neb.

The compiler of this book is indebted to the Rev. Charles McKee Cantrall for considerable information and data regarding this branch of the family.

1577. LEVI CANTRALL[5] (Joshua,[4] Joseph,[3] Zebulon,[2] Richard[1]) was born Oct. 1, 1787, in Botetourt county, Va., and was two years of age when his parents moved to Kentucky. Married (1) Fanny England, Nov. 30, 1809, in Bath county, Ky. She was born Oct. 2, 1792, and died Sept. 10, 1835, leaving thirteen children. He married (2) Mrs. Ann Barnett, née Patterson, May 27, 1836, in Sangamon county, Ill.; five children, of whom three died in infancy.

Levi Cantrall was left an orphan at the age of twelve years and was bound to a man who was a tanner. This man whipped him so severely that he carried the scars all his life. At the age of fourteen, he ran away from his hard master and made his own living. In relating his early hardships to his children, he taught them to always show kindness to the poor and needy.

Levi Cantrall and his family moved to Madison county, Ohio, in 1811. In Oct., 1819, they moved to Madison county, Ill., and from there to Sangamon county, where they arrived Dec. 4, 1819, at the present site of Springfield. On the fifth they reached the north side of the Sangamon river, in what is now Fancy creek township, and on the seventh selected a location, where they commenced to build a cabin, Dec. 8, 1819.

From Levi Cantrall's notes of the trials these early settlers of Sangamon county had to endure, we quote the following excerpts:

"December 8, set to build a cabin and got one raised and chinked and chimney up to the mantle, when the weather set in so hard that mortar froze so we could not plaster it. December 24 the snow began to fall and there was one snow after another until it was two feet on a level." He goes on to tell how extremely cold the weather was until Feb. 11, when it moderated and rained. Then a company consisting of Levi and Wyatt Cantrall, Mathew Holland, Alexander Crawford, Henry Crawford, a Mr. Kellogg and John Dixon, who afterwards founded the city of Dixon, Ill., set out for the American Bottom to get provisions. The weather again became extremely cold. They loaded their wagons with flour, meal, etc., and started home on the eighteenth, driving fourteen head of hogs. At night it was very cold, but during the day the rain and melting snow made hard work of their progress and the whole country was simply afloat. They met a farmer, by the name of Bans, who had been stuck for three days in a snow-drift with a load of corn and was badly frost-bitten. They helped him out of his difficulties. When they got to Sugar creek, they had to cut timber and build a bridge over the ice, in order to get the hogs across. In one day they travelled one mile. The next day they reached the Sangamon river, which had overflowed the banks and as they had no boat they had to send back to Kelly's, where the city of Springfield now stands, to get tools to build a canoe. This canoe was made with an axe and grubbing hoe. They finally reached home twenty-one days from the time they started. The snow remained in drifts until Mar. 10. The spring was fine and they commenced to cultivate the land. April 25, there was a heavy rain; then a drought set in. May 26, a frost cut their corn to the ground, and there was no more rain until July 19. They were so discouraged they thought of moving back to the settlement. However, they hauled provisions before the next winter and lived through it. In 1820 Levi Cantrall built a horse mill. It was a band mill with a wheel forty feet in diameter and ground the first grain on the north side of the Sangamon river. The people came to this mill for thirty miles or more. In 1822 he built a water mill on Cantrall's creek, near the present town of Cantrall, for sawing and grinding. He kept a tannery for over forty years. In telling of the deep snow in 1830, he says that there was one snow after another until the snow was four feet on a level: it drifted until it covered stake and rider fences and in many places was seven or eight feet deep. On his farm it took two good yoke of oxen to haul one shock of fodder, and this lasted from November to February, 1830–31.

It is said that Levi Cantrall gathered material for a family history and wished it published after his death, which occurred Feb. 22, 1860, but these papers have not been found.

The town of Cantrall, Ill., was laid out on land he entered soon after coming to that state, and was named in honor of his memory.

Joseph S. Cantrall became a cattle merchant when nineteen years of age and was successful until the Civil War, when he and his partner lost heavily on 1,000 head of cattle they had bought. He was in New York City, Feb., 1865, and saw cattle sell for twenty-eight cents per pound net: the highest price at which cattle ever sold. He remained in this business until 1872. In 1874 he built a grain elevator at Cantrall, Ill., which he operated for sixteen years. In 1886 he was nominated for sheriff of Sangamon county, by the Republican party; he ran 1,000 votes ahead of his ticket, but the ticket was defeated. In 1890 he was again nominated for the same office and ran 1,350 votes ahead of his ticket, but was again defeated as the county went Democratic by 1,700 votes. In 1891 he went to Nebraska as agent for a grain firm. Returned to Springfield, Ill., in 1894, where he is now general special agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

THE DESCENDANTS OF

BENJAMIN CANTRELL

OF MASSACHUSETTS

2054. BENJAMIN CANTRELL [1] arrived in Philadelphia from Ireland about 1764. From records and traditions in this family, we learn that they were descendants of the Cantrells who fled from France to Ireland, at, or about the time of the St. Bartholomew Massacre (1572).

After living in Philadelphia two years, Benjamin Cantrell moved to New York, where he lived from 1766 to 1770. He went next to Boston, Mass., and served in the Revolutionary War. He was wounded during the war. In 1787 he settled in Deerfield, Mass., where he died. He was living there in 1817.

He is mentioned in "The History of Deerfield, Massachusetts," by George Sheldon, and from personal interviews with this gentleman in Boston in April, 1903 (he was then eighty-four years of age), a great deal was learned of this Cantrell family, as he had known members of it well during his residence at Deerfield.

Benjamin Cantrell married ——— Parvin, in Philadelphia, about 1766. The Parvin family located in Pennsylvania as early as 1738 and were a prominent and wealthy family.

Children:

2055. * i. Parvin.
2056. * ii. Benjamin.
2057. iii. Anna, m. Seth Clapp, son of John Clapp, Sept. 22, 1801. This branch of the family lived and died in Deerfield.

Child:

1. Parvin Clapp, b. in 1802; m. Lucinda Cobb.

2058. iv. Henry, m. Eunice De Wolf, Dec. 2, 1830. They moved to Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., where they joined the Shakers.

2055. PARVIN CANTRELL [2] (Benjamin [1]) married Nancy Gooding. They settled in Hartford, N. Y., where their five children were born, and where he died. His widow moved to Schenectady, N. Y., where she died.

Dr. Funkhouser was b. in St. Louis, Dec. 10, 1850. He was a son of Robert M. and Sarah Johnson Selmes Funkhouser: his father was a well known merchant and banker at St. Louis. He was a grandson of Robert Roland and Rachel Cross Funkhouser. Rachel Funkhouser was a daughter of Zachariah and Esther Johnson Cross. Esther Johnson's mother was the eldest sister of Daniel Boone. Zachariah Cross served in the War for American Independence: part of the time as a scout for his cousin, Gen. Francis Marion. Dr. Funkhouser's great-grandfather, Christopher Funkhouser, was also a soldier in the American Revolution.

Dr. Robert M. Funkhouser was educated at private schools and under the tutorage of the late Bishop Dunlap. He graduated from both the University of Virginia and Dartmouth College, and soon after began the study of law and medicine at Columbia College, New York City. He graduated from the Columbia Law School in 1873 and was admitted to the bar of New York and Missouri. He continued his medical studies and graduated from the medical department of Columbia in 1874 and chose the profession for his work. Olonzo Cantrell, although a mere boy, enlisted in the Confederate Army at Richmond, Va., July 30, 1862, and served until the general surrender. He was sergeant in Capt. J. W. Fisher's Company B, 25th Battalion, Virginia Infantry. At the end of the war, he entered upon his business career with very small capital, and a frail constitution, weakened by the hardships of military service. At the time of his death, in 1879, by energetic efforts and unfailing ambition he had reached a position which the world calls prosperous, and was respected and admired by all who knew him.

2102. ii. Walter Hutchinson, b. June 7, 1870; m. Emma Decarme, Apr. 6, 1896. She was born Feb. 18, 1866, near Pittsburg, and is a daughter of Charles Adolphe and Amanda Lowry Decarme. Her father was born in France, and on her mother's side she is descended from the old Maryland family of Lowry.
Walter Cantrell has had charge for over ten years of the designing department of E. A. Wright Bank Note Company, at Philadelphia, and is an expert steel engraver.
He and his wife are members of the Church of the Annunciation, Protestant Episcopal.

2103. iii. Edward George, b. June 9, 1872; d. in 1892.

2091. JOHN ABBOTT CANTRELL[2] (Isaac[1]) was born in Ireland, Jan. 30, 1803, and was a boy when he came with his parents to Philadelphia. Married Ann Henry, daughter of Lieut. James Henry, 2d West India Regiment, Apr. 3, 1827. She was born in Ballyshannon, Ireland, Feb. 2, 1809, and died Nov. 26, 1880. John A. Cantrell died Dec. 17, 1872. They were both communicants at Old Swedes church, Philadelphia, and are buried in the churchyard.

When quite young John A. Cantrell went into a drug store. Later he owned the drug store at the corner of South Second and Carpenter streets, Philadelphia. This corner has been occupied by three generations of the family as a place of business and residence, and is now in the possession of Mrs. Matilda Cantrell, a daughter-in-law of Dr. John A. Cantrell.

Children:

2104. i. Cherry A., b. Apr. 17, 1831; m. Alfred Young, Oct. 7, 1854; d. Jan. 23, 1876, and is buried in Old Swedes churchyard, Philadelphia. He was b. Oct. 7, 1832, and d. Mar. 31, 1882.

2105. JAMES HENRY CANTRELL [3] (John Abbott,[2] Isaac [1]) was born Apr. 24, 1832, in Philadelphia. Married Matilda Fuller, daughter of John and Ann Fuller, Apr. 8, 1857. She was born in 1832 in Philadelphia, a block from her present residence on the old Cantrell corner. Her parents were both born in Philadelphia, and are descendants of the Fuller who came to America in the Mayflower.

Dr. James Henry Cantrell graduated from Jefferson Medical College and was for many years proprietor of the Cantrell drug store at South Second and Carpenter streets, where he died. This family are Episcopalians.

Children:
2110. * i. John Abbott.
2111. *ii. Lester Fuller.

2110. JOHN ABBOTT CANTRELL[4] (James Henry,[3] John Abbott,[2] Isaac [1]) was born Aug. 14, 1863, in Philadelphia. Graduated at the age of twenty years from Jefferson Medical College, but was not allowed to practice until he had attained the age of twenty-one. UNCLASSIFIED RECORDS

2128. Mary Thomas Cantrell was a daughter of Rev. Owen Thomas. Rev. Owen Thomas was born in Wales in 1676; came to America in 1707 and took charge of the Welsh Tract Baptist church, Pencader Hundred, New Castle county, Pa., in 1740, continued in care thereof to May 27, 1748, when he resigned to go to Yellow Springs, where he died Nov. 12, 1760. His daughter Mary married a Cantrell. She was baptized Oct. 6, 1744, at the Welsh Tract Baptist church and was married at this time, but we could not find which one of the Cantrells she married. They had several children.

2129. Alice Cantrell married Rev. Jonathan Jermyn, a prominent Baptist minister, about 1756. They lived at Shiloh, N. J., and had several children. She was no doubt of the New Castle county, Pennsylvania family, as her New Jersey home was just across the Delaware river.

2130. Nathaniel Chantrell's name appears in an old MSS. list in 1701, Christiana Hundred, New Castle county, Pa.

2131. Richard Cantrell married Mary Reily, Aug. 1, 1777, at St. John's Episcopal church at Lancaster, Pa.

2132. Samuel Cantrill, tailor, bought land, on which there was a house and stable, on the old King's road (now Market street), and James street in the village of Newport, Christiana Hundred, New Castle county, Pa., Sept. 20, 1793.

Samuel Cantrill was probably a descendant of Zebulon Cantrill, whose land on the King's road was only two or three miles from Newport.

Samuel Cantrill died about 1793 and letters of administration on his estate were granted to Zachariah Derrickson, administrator, (Sarah Cantrill, the widow, having renounced).

May 19, 1795, Sarah Cantrill was appointed guardian of three orphan children of Samuel Cantrill. She sold the home at Newport, Apr. 5, 1796, and all trace of her and her family are then lost.

Children:
2133. i. George.
2134. ii. Robert.
2135. iii. Mary.

2136. Isaac Cantrell. In a letter dated at Baltimore, 1819, Samuel Jennings wrote to his brother, Jonathan Jennings, Governor of Indiana, recommending Mr. Isaac Cantrell, who was leaving Baltimore, intending to reside in Ohio, or Indiana, and states that he has a son and daughter "capable of giving useful instruction to youth."

2137. Jeremiah Cantrell was born in Botetourt county, Va. (He probably was a descendant of Zebulon Cantrell's line.) Married Mary Reynolds in Virginia.

Jeremiah Cantrell was a fife major, under General Jackson, in the War of 1812 and was at the Battle of New Orleans. He received a grant of land for his services in that war, and settled in Indiana, where he died.

Child:
2138. James C., was b. in Indianapolis, Ind., in 1823. Married twice, but has no living children.

James C. Cantrell served in the northern army during the Civil War and after the war moved to Philadelphia, Pa., where he now lives. In a personal interview in 1900, he recalled many of the current traditions of the family, i. e. that one of his ancestors had a brickyard in Philadelphia at its first settlement; that one of the older members of the family had over twenty children, some of them being twins. The old family names he could remember were Richard, Joseph, Joshua, Stephen and Zebulon. He had heard that the family moved from Pennsylvania to the western part of Virginia and he thought his great-grandfather was in the Revolutionary War, but could not tell his first name.

2139. John Chantrell. In No. 4, North Carolina Register, an abstract of the will of John Chantrell, executed Apr. 16, 1774, appears. The devisees named are relatives in Devonshire, Eng., except John Harthridge, of Powell's Point, N. C., and his sister Sarah Hopkins. He evidently was unmarried. It has been suggested that he was a mariner, whose home was in Devonshire, Eng., and that he did not belong to the American family.

2140. Adam Cantrall, head of a family, census of 1790, in Greenville district, S. C. He had four sons under sixteen years of age and five daughters in 1790. We have not found any trace of these descendants.

2141. John Cantrall, head of a family, census of 1790, in Greenville district, S. C., with one son under sixteen years of age. This family could not be traced.

2142. Samuel Cantrell came from Ireland to New York in 1800. He remained in New York City, where many of his descendants now live.

2143. Edwin Cantrell, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was born in England, where his ancestors have lived for many generations.

2144. William H. Cantrell was born in New York City. His father, William Cantrell, came from Naniea, County Tipperary, Ireland. His grandfather was a property owner in County Tipperary and the family was one of influence and distinction there. Among them was a rector in the Episcopal church.

2145. Samuel Cantrell came from County Westmeath, Ireland, to Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1880. He confirms the tradition that the Cantrells in Ireland have always been Protestants.

Of the Monticello, N. Y., Cantrell family, all we could learn was that there were two brothers, George and Thomas, but we have not found where this family originally came from.

Children:
2146. * i. George.
2147. *ii. Thomas.

2146. George Cantrell, m. and lived at Monticello, N. Y.

Children:
2148. George.
2149. Minerva.

2147. Thomas Cantrell, born about 1803; died in 1883. His wife was born about 1805; died about 1886.

Children:
2150. i. Ann, m. ——— Brennan. He d. and she lives in Dakota with her sons.
2151. ii. Susan, m. ——— Bowers. They live at Toledo, Ohio.
2152. iii. Eliza, m. ——— Randall. He d. and she lives at Monticello, N. Y.
2153. iv. Julia, m.
2154. v. Robert, m. and lives at Monticello, N. Y.
2155. * vi. John.
2156. vii. Thomas, d.
2157. * iii. William.

2155. John Cantrell, born in 1842, at Monticello, N. Y.; married Mary Thorp. They live at Brooklyn, Ohio.

Children:
2158. * i. George.
2159. ii. William.
2160. iii. Julia May, m. ——— Porter. They live at Greenfield, Pa.
Child:
1. Walter Porter.
2161. iv. David W. Lives at Columbus Grove, Ohio.

2158. George Cantrell, born Sept. 4, 1866. Married Clarissa E. Yoakum, Feb. 8, 1891. He is a civil engineer and he and his family live at Brooklyn, Ohio.

Children:
2162. i. Ada Bell, b. Jan. 23, 1892.
2163. ii. Ruth May, b. Oct. 13, 1897.

2157. William Cantrell married Peggy ———. They live at Monticello, N. Y.

Children:
2164. i. William.
2165. ii. Susie.

In Caswell county, North Carolina Wills, is the will of 2166. Isaac Cantrill, which was probated in 1831. Heirs are his nephews, sons of his brother Benjamin Cantrill, as follows:

2167. Isaac Cantrill.

2168. Alexander Robert Cantrill.

2169. Joseph Cantrill.

Joseph Cantrill received a grant of land in Caswell county, N. C., in 1783, and he deeded land to William Cantrill in 1790.

In a will of William Cantrill, in Caswell county, N. C., the following names are mentioned: John and Hetty Walker; Joseph Cantrill; Hannah, Anthony, Rachel, Sally and Hetty Martin and Katie Garrison.

2170. Zebulon Cantrell's will, dated Dec. 28, 1883, in Spartanburg county, S. C., mentions: his wife Kitty; grandsons Zebulon and William Cantrell; granddaughters Emily and Panthy Cantrell.

In the last century three sons of George Cantrell, of Nottingham, Eng. (whose father, George Cantrell, Sr., was the inventor of Nottingham lace), came to Wisconsin. They were:

2171. Joseph B. Cantrell, who moved from Wisconsin to San Francisco.

2172. Thomas Cantrell, who moved from Wisconsin to San Francisco.

2173. William Cantrell, who moved from Wisconsin to Chicago.

The family of Cantrelle in New Orleans probably went to that city direct from France, but I have not been able to verify this.

APPENDICES

APPENDIX A

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF STEPHEN CANTRELL, ESQUIRE.

In the name of God, Amen, I Stephen Cantrell of the County of Sumner and State of Tennessee, of sound mind and memory, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, in manner and form following towit:

I give and bequeath to my wife, Mary Cantrell, during her widowhood, the use of my household and kitchen furniture, except such as I shall hereafter especially name, with the use and interest of one-half of my home plantation, with the dwelling house and other necessary buildings to be used at the discretion of my Executors, namely, Stephen Cantrell, Jr., William Cantrell, William Edwards, son of Nathan Edwards, and Zebulon Cantrell. I also give her the use of eight negroes, towit, Phillip and Betty his wife, and Dilsey their daughter, Genevive, Jack, Tom and Esau, also Millie and her child Franky, also two work horses and a certain black mare, known to be her riding creature, two cows and calves, one ox cart and ox wagon, and furniture with farming utensils necessary to carry on the plantation, two yoke of oxen, two sows and pigs, one dozen sheep, two beef steers, also an equal proportion with the other legatees which will be particularly mentioned of other property to be disposed of at sale, together with the notes and accounts remaining to be collected at my decease. Also the cash on hand, likewise the bank stock, etc. and the whole to be under the discretion of my said executors, for her and for the purpose afore-mentioned.

It is also my will that should my wife contrary to my expectations, appear to dissipate or make an improper use of the property so bequeathed her, that in that case it shall be in the power of my executors aforesaid to take the property into their possession and make sale of it, reserving to her a reasonable support during her natural life, and the money arising from the sale thereof to be equally divided at her decease among the whole of the legatees.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son Stephen Cantrell, Jr., his heirs and assigns forever, two certain tracts of land lying in Wilson County on Cumberland River, each containing one hundred and twenty (120) acres, agreeable to the butts and boundaries specified in patents number 4307 and 4308. Also one-third part of lot No. 73, in the town of Nashville, Davison County, also an equal proportion with my other legatees of all my other property, directed to be sold at my decease, cash on hand, accounts, notes, bank stock, and provided he pays me $2562.50 in specie, on an obligation given me by himself, Petway & Company, together with the balance of said obligation, if unpaid before my decease.

Item: I give and bequeath to my daughter Sarah Willis, wife of Caleb Willis, her heirs, born of her body, and assigns forever, one hundred and fifty (150) acres of land, part of a tract patented to William Bowen, lying on the north side of Cumberland River, in Sumner County, adjoining Jesse Garrett, agreeable to the butt and boundaries of a deed of transfer made me by the heirs of David Carson, and adjoining a tract I have heretofore conveyed to the said Sarah Willis on the west and Moses Rule on the south. I also give her a certain negro boy, named John, also an equal proportion with my other legatees of all the other property directed to be sold at my decease, with the cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stocks, etc. It is also my will that the whole of the property, etc. bequeathed the said Sarah Willis be kept in the possession of my said executors and no part thereof to be surrendered to her, but on application by her to the aforesaid executors, and should any suit in law or equity be hereafter commenced by her husband Caleb Willis, relative to this will, it shall then be the duty of my said executors to sell the aforesaid property and the proceeds of said sale to be by them kept and surrendered to her only on her personal application, and in case of her death to be equally divided between her children when they shall arrive at lawful age.

Item: I give and bequeath to the children of my son Ota Cantrell and their heirs or assigns forever, a certain tract of land containing two hundred and sixty four (264) acres lying on the east fork of Stones River on a branch of the east side of the east fork, commonly known by the name of Andrews Branch, in Rutherford County, beginning at a hickory and ash, running east one hundred and forty (148) poles to an ash, north two hundred and ninety six (296) poles to a stake, south two hundred and ninety six poles to the beginning, also an equal proportion with the other legatees of all my other property herein directed, to be sold at my decease with the cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stock, etc. The whole to be kept in the hands of my said son Ota during his natural life.

Item: I give and Bequeath to my son William Cantrell, his heirs and assigns for ever, in addition to what I have heretofore devise him, all that part of Wilkersons tract of land that lies west and south of Station Camp Creek in Sumner County, if not sold before my decease. Also one-half of a lot in the town of Gallatin, in Sumner County, known by the Lot No. 9, in the North-west Square of said town. Also an equal proportion with the other legatees of all my other property herein directed to be sold at my decease. Also the cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stock, etc.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son Zebulon Cantrell, his heirs and assigns forever, an equal division with his brother Darby H. Cantrell, of fourteen hundred and seventy four (1474) acres of land in five different tracts, on the north side of Cumberland River, opposite the mouth of Obys River in Jackson County; also one-third part of lot No. 73 in the town of Nashville, Davison County; also an equal proportion with the other legatees of all my other property herein directed to be sold at my decease; also cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stocks, etc. Also a cow and calf, a feather bedstead and furniture.

Item: I give and bequeath to my daughter Mary Edwards, wife of William Edwards, son of Nathan Edwards, her heirs and assigns forever, in addition to what I have heretofore given her. One-half of lot No. 9 in the north-west square of the town of Gallatin, Sumner County, also one equal proportion with the other legatees of all my other property herein directed to be sold at my decease, also the cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stock, etc. provided that the said William shall abide by a verbal agreement heretofore made between the said William and myself, towit: that should the said Mary survive him, the said William and there should be no issue, that he the said William shall surrender the whole of the, of my aforesaid property, etc. to her bequeath to the said William or otherwise. It is further my will that the said William keep in his possession a certain tract of land in the forks of Station Camp on which he first settled till he is fully satisfied from the results thereof for the labor and expense he was at in improving said place.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son Darby H. Cantrell, his heirs and assigns forever, an equal division with his brother Zebulon Cantrell, of fourteen hundred and seventy four (1474) acres of land in five different tracts, lying on the north side of Cumberland River opposite the mouth of Obys River in Jackson County, also one-third part of lot No. 73 in the town of Nashville, Davison County, also an equal proportion of all the other property with the other legatees herein directed to be sold at my decease, also cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stock, etc. Also one cow and calf, a feather bed, bedstead and furniture.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son James Madison Monroe Cantrell his heirs and assigns forever, four hundred and eleven (411) acres of land, more or less, lying in Rutherford County on Stewarts Creek, being the balance of a preemption of a six hundred and forty (640) acre tract granted me by the State of North Carolina, being the place whereon my son Ota now lives, also a certain negro boy named Tommy, one cow and calf, one feather bed, bedstead and furniture with an equal proportion with the other legatees of the property herein directed to be sold at my decease, cash on hand, accounts, obligations, bank stock, etc.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son George Clinton Jefferson Cantrell, his heirs and assigns forever, the one-half of my home plantation on Madison Creek, Sumner County, containing by estimation six hundred acres, and that at my decease the said half be rented out for the use of him, the said George, and at the decease of his mother, the other half of the said plantation, or tract of land, also a certain negro boy named Jerry, one feather bed, bedstead and furniture, one young horse, one cow and calf, also an equal proportion of the other property with the other legatees, herein directed to be sold at my decease, accounts, obligations, cash on hand, bank stock, etc. It shall moreover be the duty of my said executors to keep in their possession the property, etc. given and bequeathed to my two sons, James Madison Monroe Cantrell and George Clinton Jefferson Cantrell, till the aforesaid James and George shall arrive at lawful age. It is moreover my will that all my other property, both real and personal, not heretofore particularly specified, shall at my decease be exposed to public sale by my said executors at a credit of twelve months, the purchaser giving bonds with approved security.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal this 5th. day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty three, and the forty-eighth year of American Independence.

Codicil to Stephen Cantrell's Will.

In addition of this Will and Testament it is my will that the balance of the obligations I hold on Stephen Cantrell, Jr. Henchy, Petway & Co., if not paid before my decease, to be lent to my son-in-law, William Edwards, and my son Zebulon P. Cantrell, for the term of four years from the time it is collected, free from interest, they giving their obligation payable in like money as specified in said obligation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty sixth day of August 1824.

In addition to this Will and Testament I hereby annex the following from circumstances which have transpired since signing and sealing thereof, viz.

That should my wife, Mary Cantrell, contract matrimony and marry any other person after my decease, she shall then be entitled to one horse and saddle, one feather bed and furniture, and surrender up into the hands of my aforesaid executors the whole of the other property herein bequeathed her by this will, and it shall be the duty of my said executors to take it into their possession and make sale of it in the manner and form of the other property heretofore mentioned, and in case she and her husband should separate, or disagree, then and in that case it shall be the duty of my said executors to allow her, the said Mary, a reasonable support. It is further my will that a certain piece of land of one hundred and fifty (150) acres, part of a tract heretofore bequeathed to my daughter, Sarah Willis, including the house and improvements whereon Matthew Rice lived the last season be sold by my said executors at a credit of one, two, three and four years, taking bond with sufficient security, provided they can sell it for $2000.00 and the money when collected to be surrendered to her the said Sarah, or her heirs, born of her body, on her or their personal application, and should the said Sarah prefer taking the land and place whereon William Edwards formerly lived in the forks of Station Camp, as a full compensation, for the aforesaid tract of one hundred and fifty (150) acres as heretofore mentioned, that the said Rice lived on, then and in that case the said Sarah shall surrender up the aforesaid tract of one hundred and fifty (150) acres to my said executors to be sold and equally divided amongst all my legatees heretofore named, in witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 7th. day of January in the Year of Our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six:

Codicil No. 3.

In addition to this Will and Testament from events which have lately taken place I do hereby insert the following:

As there is a suit at law commenced against me by Mary A. Bowen and Samuel A. Bowen in the Circuit Court of Sumner County, also a suit commenced by me against David S. Willis in the above Court, now in case of my decease before the termination of the said suits, it is my will that my executors heretofore named legally and attentively, attend to the said suits and in case of my decease before the suit against said David S. Willis shall be decided, that my said executors shall renew the suit and prosecute it to effect till decided by due course of law, or compromised and for any trouble or expense that my said executors may be subjected to in consequence of said suit, that they be amply satisfied from my estate and that each of the said executors who may see cause to act be entitled to the sum of $25.00.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this sixth day of April 1826.

Codicil No. 4.

In addition to this my Will and Testament it is moreover my will that $1000.00 which I heretofore loaned to William Edwards shall be free of any interest or use for the term of four years from the day of the date of his obligation and then to be paid to my estate. I likewise bequeath to my wife, Mary Cantrell, in addition to what has heretofore been allowed her, a certain negro boy named Ned, a son of Esau, also Big John a brother of said Esau, during her natural life or manages, and at her decease to revert to my other legatees. It is my request that the negroes left to my wife when hired out shall not be hired out of the State. It is further my will that the tract of land situated in the forks of Station Camp which I have allowed to William Edwards to retain till he was fully satisfied for the improvement he made thereon that the said land be surrendered up to my executors on the first day of January 1828, provided my daughter, Sarah Willis, should not make a choice of the said tract of land for her share, but should she prefer the land heretofore deeded her then the said tract in the forks of Station Camp as aforesaid shall be sold for the benefit of my legatees aforesaid and as there are several erasures and interlineations, additions, etc. I have this day made a careful examination of every part thereof and do hereby notify and confirm the same and every part thereof.

In testimony whereof I have heretofore set my hand and seal, this 11th. day of November, in the Year of Our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty six.

APPENDIX B

MINUTES OF THE REUNION OF THE CANTRILL FAMILY OF THE UNITED STATES HELD AT THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION IN VIRGINIA ON SEPTEMBER 5, 1907.

A large number of the members of the Cantrill or Cantrell family, of the United States, met in the Convention Hall of the Inside Inn, at the Jamestown Exposition in the State of Virginia at 10:30 A. M. on September 5, 1907, in response to the following call:

REUNION OF THE CANTRELL FAMILY

TO BE HELD AT THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION, SEPTEMBER FIFTH, 1907

JUNE, 1907.

To all members of the Cantrell Family in the United States:

Inasmuch as William Cantrell, or William Cantrill, believed to have been the first individual of the name in this country, landed at Jamestown, Virginia, some three hundred years ago, and became a member of the first English settlement established within the territory of the United States, it has been thought and suggested that a reunion of his family and possible descendants, at Jamestown, while the Exposition there is in progress, would be particularly interesting and appropriate.

As a result of this suggestion, the undersigned have been selected as a committee to fix a date and arrange for such a reunion.

After due consideration, Thursday, September 5th, 1907, has been agreed upon as the most convenient time; and a meeting of the entire Cantrell family of the United States is hereby called to take place at the Jamestown Exposition, within the Commonwealth of Virginia, on that date.

A programme for the reunion will be arranged later, and all persons expecting to attend, or desiring further information, will please write to Charles W. Cantrell, Corresponding Secretary, 1022 Bessemer Building, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Susan Cantrill Christie, who has devoted much time, during the past ten years, to the collection of the history of the family, we have been furnished with the names and addresses of about 500 members of the Cantrell family located in 31 States of the Union (most of them being heads of families) and representing practically every calling and profession. No doubt many of these will attend the Jamestown Exposition in any event, and, it is believed that hundreds of them will make it convenient to be present on September 5th.

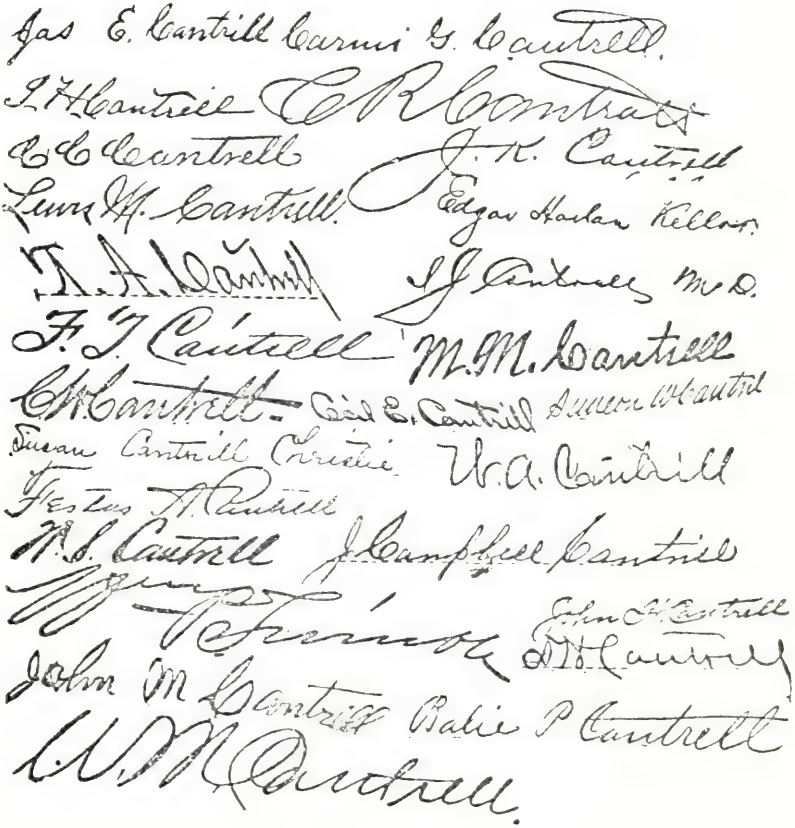
There are many others scattered throughout the Country, whose names and addresses are not known and have not been furnished to your committee; and, we therefore request all persons receiving this letter to, as far as possible, notify all members and friends of the family known to them, of the time and place of the reunion hereinbefore called.

The idea of the coming together of the family and possible descendants of one of the first English Settlers of the United States, upon the site of the first English Settlement, after three hundred years of American progress, will appeal strongly to every loyal member of the family.

The occasion will no doubt be one of great interest and enjoyment, and we respectfully urge all who can possibly do so, to be in attendance on the date above named.



Owing to the absence of Judge James E. Cantrill of Georgetown, Kentucky, President of the Reunion Committee, the meeting was called to order by the Secretary, John H. Cantrell, of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Charles W. Cantrell, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, was elected Secretary of the meeting.

The morning meeting was largely devoted to the enrollment of those in attendance, and general introductions. The following members of the family were registered as present:

A finance committee was appointed consisting of William Magness Cantrell, Chairman, Charles W. Cantrell, Fielding T. Cantrell, Charles C. Williams and Harlan P. Christie.

Announcement was made that a family dinner had been arranged for, to take place at the Inside Inn in the evening, and thereupon the meeting adjourned until 2:30 P. M.

At 2:30 P. M. the adjourned meeting was called to order by Secretary John H. Cantrell. C. W. Cantrell continued to act as Secretary.

After expressing regret on account of the absence of Judge James T. Cantrill, who, by reason of illness, was unable to be present, the presiding officer introduced Mr. Cecil Edwards Cantrill, youngest son of Judge Cantrill, who read the following communication from his father:

"To my Kinsmen assembled in family convention at the Jamestown Exposition, Virginia,

"Greetings:—

"It is with more profound sadness and regret than any one of you may ever know that I am forced to realize that I may not be with you as Presiding Officer, with which position you have honored me; but more especially, to myself than all else, to feel that I am not to be one of you on this, the first recorded call of the blood in three centuries. Allow me to present to you, through my younger son, Cecil Edwards Cantrill, very briefly all my good wishes for the perfect success of this auspicious occasion and prophesy its lasting good even though a mere handful shall be gathered together, to know more of the family history, its origin, traditions over the seas and in America, since the landing of William the First on the shores of the most wonderful Republic which history notes.

"In the multitude of thoughts that flood my brain when I reflect upon the significance of this gathering, though not to trespass too far, I shall hold you to but few of these for your consideration.

"First: That a careful study of a good and honorable, and therefore a great lineage, its characteristics; its strengths and its weaknesses as well, is to engender a wholesome racial pride, a safeguard and a self-respect that tend to make a people incapable of pettiness in thought and deed and of a class of low crimes common to those who have not the wisdom to learn the dignity and honor of a clean descent.

"Second: I beg to impress upon this Convention of the Clan Cantrill, especially upon the impressible young, some of whom must be present, this all important fact, that any Cantrill, old or young, rich or poor, prominent or obscure, who may be privileged to add lustre to his name by any individual deed of mental, moral, or physical prowess, dare not by anything ignoble besmirch the highest ideals already established and exalted by his forbears and kindred. To bedim one ray of a star is to degrade to that extent not only himself, but by reflection his people. It is not given to all to become heroic; but to each belongs the privilege to hold with firmness in the struggle of life to his duty by guarding in his stronghold, like a sleepless sentinel, the weakest part in the battlement, till perchance a greater shall come to lead him to higher things.

"The essentials of a fine family are the essentials of good American citizenship; to bravely and courageously do with no murmur, in silence and alone if need be, patiently, conscientiously, unswervingly his full duty where his duty finds him.

"Like all who enter the arena of life, some epochs of my own have been in the trough as well as on the crest of the wave, and as the shadows grow long in the fast coming sunset, I congratulate myself on nothing more than that in the various vicissitudes that have come to me, I have tried to practice the little preachments I here make to you to-day.

"Again, with the kindliest greetings and goodbye, I shall always feel myself and wish you to regard me as,

"Very faithfully yours,

"James Edwards Cantrill."

A resolution was unanimously adopted providing for the organization of a permanent Cantrell Association for the especial purpose of collecting and preserving the history of the family, and the following officers of said Association were unanimously elected, to-wit:

President, John H. Cantrell, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Vice Presidents, William Magness Cantrell, Guntersville, Ala., Charles H. Cantrall, Athens, Ill., William S. Cantrell, Benton, Ill., Robert Cantrell, Rome, Ga., Cecil E. Cantrill, Georgetown, Ky., and Fielding T. Cantrell, Spartanburg, S. C.; Secretary, Orval Cantrill, Harveyville, Kan.; Assistant Secretary, Rev. Carmi G. Cantrell, Springfield, Ill.; Corresponding Secretary, Charles W. Cantrell, Pittsburg, Pa.; Historian, Mrs. Susan Cantrill Christie, 231 Madison Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

After a brief address of acceptance by the newly elected President of the Association, an extended paper by Mrs. Susan Cantrill Christie on "The Cantrells in England and America" was read.

Following the reading of Mrs. Christie's paper an hour or more was devoted to the relating of family reminiscences and to a general and extemporaneous discussion of Cantrell characteristics, remarks along these lines being made by Charles H. Cantrall of Athens, Ill., William M. Cantrell of Guntersville, Ala., Orval Cantrill of Harveyville, Kan., Chas. W. Cantrell of Pittsburg, Pa., Mrs. Nelah Culp of Louisville, Ky., T. W. Cantrell of Tennessee and Mrs. James E. Cantrill of Kentucky.

After some discussion, a motion was carried giving the officers of the Association power to act in the matter of calling, and fixing the time and place for another reunion meeting of the family.

The afternoon meeting then adjourned with the understanding that those present would attend the family dinner in the evening.

8:30 P. M.

The family dinner was served at the Inside Inn, and was attended by practically all members of the family attending the reunion.

Mrs. James E. Cantrill presided most brilliantly as Toastmistress. The following toasts were proposed and responded to:

"To our Absent," Mrs. Susan Cantrill Christie, who asked for a standing toast and in silence.

"The Cantrells of the Bench and Bar," President John H. Cantrell.

"The Cantrells in Commercial Life," Corresponding Secretary Charles W. Cantrell.

"The Call of the Blood," Mrs. William Magness Cantrell.

"Cantrells in the Carolinas," Lewis M. Cantrell.

"The Cantrells in Agriculture," Charles C. Williams.

"Our madcap: Dorothy," L. C. Christie.

"The Martyrdom of ones not Cantrills among the Cantrills," H. P. Christie.

"The Cantrell Women in Business," Mrs. Nelah Culp.

"What about the Illinois Cantralls?" Charles H. Cantrall.

(Signed) JOHN H. CANTRELL.
Chairman.
